<sup>2</sup> Recruitment and retention challenges in Public Health Nurse positions have led to significantly lower than budgeted expenditures in the Fairfax County Health Department School Health program. The Health Department is implementing measures to address these hiring challenges such as initiating a pilot program to reduce some 12-month Public Health Nurse positions to 10.5-months to align with the Fairfax County Public Schools calendar. If successful, the department may roll this out to additional Public Health Nurse positions while still complying with §§ 22.1-253.13.2 and 22.1-274 of the Code of Virginia, which mandates at least three specialized student support positions per 1,000 students.
