Lorton contains both known and potential heritage resources. The Inventory is open-ended and continues to grow. The county Inventory of Historic Sites includes properties which meet certain eligibility criteria and are officially designated by the county's History Commission. In addition to historic, architectural or archeological significance, property that serves as a focus of community identity and pride may also be recognized.

In the identified area, existing heritage resources include: the Pohick Church Historic Overlay District, sites on the County Inventory of Historic Sites and the former Lorton prison area. The former Lorton prison area has a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) that treats it as a historic overlay district with review from the county Architectural Review Board. This area includes the Workhouse Arts Center in former prison housing, renovated prison dormitories that are now apartments, new residential dwellings that complement the brick historic buildings and a future retail center within the former maximum-security prison buildings. Additional resources in this area include known and potential archaeological sites.
