Contributory Overview

Fund 119, Contributory Fund, was established in FY 2001 to reflect General Fund support for agencies or organizations that receive County contributions. FY 2011 funding totals $12,038,305 and reflects a decrease of $897,135 or 6.94 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan funding level of $12,935,440. The required Transfer In from the General Fund is $12,038,305. Individual contributions are described in detail on the following pages.

Contributory funding is in compliance with the Board of Supervisors' policy to make General Fund appropriations of specified amounts to various nonsectarian, nonprofit or quasi-governmental entities for the purpose of promoting the general health and welfare of the community. Contributory agency positions are not part of the County merit system and funding for all contributory agencies is reviewed annually. Each request is reviewed on the basis of the benefit to Fairfax County citizens, contractual or regional commitments, the responsibilities of state agencies, and a prior County commitment of funding. When appropriate, a nonprofit agency that provides specific contractual partnership services may be referred to Fund 118, Consolidated Community Funding Pool, for funding consideration by the Consolidated Community Funding Advisory Committee.

Since public funds are being appropriated, disbursements provided to designated agencies are currently made contingent upon submission and review of quarterly, semiannual and/or annual reports. This oversight activity includes reporting requirements prescribed by the County Executive, requiring designated agencies to accurately describe the level and quality of services provided to County residents, as well as the overall financial strength and stability of the County's contributory agencies. Various County agencies may be tasked with oversight of program reporting requirements. Contributory agencies that do not file reports as requested, may, at the discretion of the County Executive, have payments withheld until appropriate reports are filed and reviewed.

It should be noted that population is used by several of the organizations as the basis for their requests for FY 2011 funding from Fairfax County. The population figures cited by the individual organizations for Fairfax County may differ somewhat from one another due to the particular projection service utilized.

The chart on the following pages summarizes the FY 2011 funding for the various contributory organizations.

FY 2011 Budget Reduction Impact Summary

Those organizations that receive a County contribution not based on regional or contractual agreements, legal requirements or based on membership dues are being reduced from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution amount. In addition, contributions to two organizations that were previously funded out of Fund 119, the Occoquan Watershed Monitoring Program and the Northern Virginia Soil and Water Conservation District, will now be supported by the newly created Fund 125, Stormwater Services, beginning in FY 2011.

FY 2011 Funding Adjustments

The following funding adjustments from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan are necessary to support the FY 2011 program:

- ◆ FY 2011 Baseline Adjustments ($66,054)
A decrease of $66,054 reflects adjustments associated with contributions based on legal requirements, per capita calculations, contractual or regional commitments or based on membership dues. The following summaries describe these adjustments in more detail by program area.

The Legislative-Executive Functions/Central Service Agencies program area decreases $6,687 for several organizations based on per capita requirements and adjusted County population figures for which population is cited and used in the calculation. This reduction includes a decrease of $12,327 or 1.4 percent for Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments (MWCOG) due to a slight decrease in the Water Resources assessment and a decrease of $1,039 or 0.2 percent for the Northern Virginia Regional Commission (NVRC), based on a County population estimate which is slightly decreased from the previous year's estimate. This decrease is offset by an increase of $6,679 or 3.7 percent for the Northern Virginia Transportation Commission (NVTC) based on the share of revenue to be received by NVTC on behalf of the County (calculation based on state statute). It should be noted that population, as determined by the County's own Urban Development Information System (UDIS), maintained by the Fairfax County Department of Systems Management for Human Services, may differ from other particular projection services, e.g., Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service, used by various contributory agencies as the basis for their contributions.

The Public Safety program area decreases $541 due to a reduction in the County's share for the Northern Virginia Regional Identification System (NOVARIS) as a result of decreased lease and maintenance requirements based on obligations that have been met, as well as the receipt of additional UASI grant funding in FY 2009 to cover AFIS maintenance. In FY 2008, NOVARIS was awarded additional UASI funds for the maintenance of the new system which reduces member jurisdictions' payments in FY 2010 and FY 2011.

The Health and Welfare program area increases $165,446 due to an increase of $94,446 or 5.4 percent for the Northern Virginia Healthcare Center/Birmingham Green Adult Care Residence, known collectively as Birmingham Green. The increase for Birmingham Green is attributable to higher utilization rate calculations for the past five years. In addition, an increase of $71,000 or 42.8 percent for the Medical Care for Children Program Foundation (MCCP). The increase is attributable to MCCP operational requirements of $237,000, an increase over the contribution of $166,000 in FY 2010, for which MCCP used one-time FY 2009 fund balance to subsidize the FY 2010 contribution.

The Parks, Recreation and Cultural program area remains at the FY 2010 level other than reductions utilized to balance the FY 2011 budget.

The Community Development program area decreases $224,272 primarily associated with a decrease of $223,343 or 8.58 percent for the Convention and Visitors Corporation based on projected transient occupancy tax revenue for FY 2011; and a decrease of $929 or 1.02 percent for Northern Virginia Community College.

◆ Reductions ($831,081)

A decrease of $831,081 reflects reductions utilized to balance the FY 2011 budget. The following chart provides details on the specific reductions approved.

Title	Impact	Posn	SYE	Reduction
Reduce Contributions to Various Organizations	County contributions for various nonsectarian, nonprofit and quasi-governmental entities have been reduced by a total of $831,081. Of this amount, $534,549 reflects the reallocation of funding responsibility for contributions to the Occoquan Watershed Monitoring Program and the Northern Virginia Soil and Water Conservation District (NVSWCD) from this fund to Fund 125, Stormwater Services. It should be noted that funding of $535,830 is included in Fund 125, Stormwater Services due to an increase of $1,281 for NVSWCD for contractual increases in insurance costs. The remaining reduction of $296,532 reflects decreased contributions to Contributory Agencies that do not receive County funding through legal requirements, contractual or regional commitments or based on membership dues. In general, reductions of 5 percent were included. Please review the preceding chart for specific details.	0	0.0	$831,081

Alliance for Innovation	$6,000	$6,000	$6,000	$6,000

The Alliance for Innovation – formerly known as the Virginia Innovation Group – is part of the Innovation Groups (IG), a network of local government professionals seeking innovation and governmental excellence. IG, now in its 29th year of service, provides a national forum for those seeking to innovate and learn new approaches to providing public service. IG’s purpose is to assist local governments to build and sustain the capacity to be innovative. It provides an ‘organizational’ membership, meaning that everyone at every level in member jurisdictions can utilize its services. These include an online document library, research inquiry service, national and regional networking opportunities, training and other learning events, two annual conferences, research and publications. Recently IG, the International City/County Management Association and Arizona State University founded the Alliance for Innovation to assist local governments across the country by identifying the major forces that will drive local government in the future; responding to those forces by identifying and accelerating innovations; identifying and documenting best practices; and reducing the time from when an innovation is identified to when it becomes practice.

For FY 2011, the membership dues to the Alliance for Innovation for Fairfax County's share of costs based on population category are $6,000, which is consistent with the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan.

Fund 119 Contributory Fund

DATA provides a neutral public forum for identifying transportation needs within the Greater Dulles Area, as well as generating solutions to meet them. In Calendar Year 2009, DATA planned and conducted transportation seminars in support of efforts to improve transportation in the greater Dulles area in conjunction with regional members of the Commonwealth Transportation Board and other local governing bodies. During Calendar Year 2010, DATA will continue several activities, including conducting transit-oriented development seminars to improve understanding of the concept by citizens and businesses in the region. Other programs will emphasize congestion management and mobility approaches including heavy and light rail, bus rapid transit, and highway improvements and the effects of green house gases and climate change will be explored. DATA staff will also work with the County's Department of Transportation to execute targeted projects aimed at raising employer and citizen awareness of the challenges and possible solutions to traffic congestion in the region.

The FY 2011 Fairfax County funding amount for the Dulles Areas Transportation Association is $9,000, which is the same level as the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution amount.

Annual COG contributions are based on the per capita rate multiplied by the population estimates provided by member jurisdictions. The FY 2011 per capita rate is $0.65721, which is consistent with the FY 2010 rate for member contributions.

The FY 2011 Administrative Contribution totals $720,514 and is consistent with the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan amount. COG calculates each jurisdiction's share based on the region's estimated population. The total FY 2011 County contribution to COG is $1,151,700. Northern Virginia Regional Commission	$561,079	$565,421	$565,421	$564,382

The Northern Virginia Regional Commission (NVRC) is a regional council of local governments in Northern Virginia created in 1969 pursuant to the Virginia Area Development Act and a regionally-executed charter. In 1995, the Virginia Area Development Act was amended and renamed the Regional Cooperation Act. It sets forth the purpose of planning district commissions as follows: "...to encourage and facilitate local government cooperation in addressing, on a regional basis, problems of greater than local significance. The cooperation resulting from this Act is intended to assist local governments in meeting their own problems by enhancing their abilities to recognize and analyze regional opportunities and take account of regional influences in planning and implementing their public policies and services."

NVRC's policies and programs are established by a 25-member Board of Commissioners composed entirely of elected council and board members of NVRC's 14 member localities. The work of the Commission is supported in part by contributions from the member local governments and by appropriations from the Virginia General Assembly.

NVRC serves as a neutral forum for decision-making; provides member governments with the information and analyses necessary to make sound local and regionally beneficial decisions; provides professional and technical services to enable member governments to plan for their future individually and as a region; and carries out programs and functions at the request of member governments to supplement their own capacities or to achieve economies of scale through regional approaches. NVRC's services are divided into regional policy programs such as the legislative program; demographics and information services; environmental and land use; and human services programs.

The total FY 2011 Fairfax County contribution of $564,382 is a decrease of $1,039 or 0.2 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan of $565,421. This amount provides for the annual contribution of $490,185, as well as special contributions of $46,919 to support the Occoquan Watershed Management Program, $8,085 for the Northern Virginia Waste Management Program and $19,193 for the Four-Mile Run Watershed Management Program. Consistent with the previous two fiscal years, NVRC is holding the per capita rate at $0.50 for FY 2011. As a result, the decrease is attributable to a slight population decline based on the population estimates generated by the Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service.

Northern Virginia Transportation Commission	$177,574	$179,609	$179,609	$186,288

The Northern Virginia Transportation Commission (NVTC) is the executive agency of the Northern Virginia Transportation District. It was established by state statute as a political subdivision of the Commonwealth of Virginia. The principal business activity of the Commission is to manage and control the functions, affairs and property of the Northern Virginia Transportation District, as defined in the Transportation Act of 1964. It represents its constituent jurisdictions (Alexandria, Falls Church, Fairfax City, Arlington County, Fairfax County and Loudoun County) on the Metro Board.

Each NVTC jurisdiction is assigned a percentage of the local portion of NVTC's administrative budget based on the jurisdiction's share of state aid received from NVTC in the previous year. This is determined by the application of a subsidy allocation model that projects the total amount of state aid received by the region and local jurisdictions. This model contains seven formulas including such variables as Metro construction costs, Metrorail service costs, ridership volume and population. These calculated percentages for each jurisdiction are applied to NVTC's remaining administrative budget after other revenue sources such as state aid, interest earned and project chargebacks have been applied.

Fund 119 Contributory Fund

The NVTC projected expenditure base for FY 2011 is $1,221,880, which is consistent with the FY 2010 budget; however, Fairfax County's contribution will increase by $6,679 based on its share of revenue received by NVTC on behalf of the County. The total FY 2011 Fairfax County funding for this agency is $186,288, an increase of $6,679 or 3.72 percent over the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan of $179,609.

Public Technology Incorporated	$20,000	$0	$0	$0

Public Technology Incorporated (PTI) is the nonprofit, membership-based technology research, development and commercialization organization for all cities and counties in the United States. As the only technology organization created by and for cities and counties, PTI works with a core network of leading local government officials – the PTI membership – to identify opportunities for technology research, share best practices, offer consultancies and pilot demonstrations, promote technology development initiatives, and develop educational programming. Officials from PTI's member governments participate in councils and forums that address specific technology areas. Through a corporate partner program with leading technology companies and partnerships with federal agencies and other governmental organizations, PTI shares information about these activities, as well as the expertise of its members with the broader audience of thousands of cities and counties across the United States.

County membership in PTI is to be paid by the Department of Vehicle Services in conjunction with the Department of Information Technology in FY 2011. As a result, no funding is included for PTI in the Contributory Fund.

The Virginia Institute of Government was created by an act of the General Assembly in 1994, and is a nonprofit organization funded half by the Commonwealth of Virginia and half by local government membership contributions. It is part of the University of Virginia and its Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service. Local governments that join the Institute make annual contributions based on membership. While the Institute began with 60 members, it now has a roster of 225 Virginia member localities. The Institute operates with an advisory board of 18 members, each appointed for a single two-year term. It is made up of an equal number of members from the state's legislative and executive branches, as well as local governments.

Fund 119 Contributory Fund

The Institute is an ongoing informal gathering of organizational development staff from Virginia localities established to exchange ideas and strategies for developing high-performance governments and to help the Institute identify areas of needed assistance. Work products of the Virginia Institute of Government encompass four main areas: training, technical assistance, electronic information services, and select research projects. The Institute also provides staff support to certain state legislative and study committees.

The total Fairfax County FY 2011 funding for this agency is $20,000, which is consistent with the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan.

It has yielded hundreds of millions of dollars in economic return for the Washington region and the Commonwealth of Virginia, including investment, tourism income, trade opportunities and jobs. Both Dulles and National Airports continue their significant impact on Fairfax County's economy. The distribution of local direct tax impact from Dulles and National for Fairfax County in 2005 was in excess of $20 million.

Total Fairfax County funding included for this agency for FY 2011 is $32,704, a decrease of $1,721 or 5 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution of $34,425. Fairfax County's FY 2011 contribution will be used to maintain a comprehensive, proactive marketing and sales program to promote the region's air service opportunities to the world's airlines and other air service providers; encourage improvement of airport access; ensure adequate Air Traffic Control, Homeland Security and Customs support services from the federal government; and support the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority's Capital Development.

NOVARIS	$22,551	$10,118	$10,118	$9,577

The Northern Virginia Regional Identification System (NOVARIS) utilizes state-of-the-art computer equipment to identify criminals by categorizing and matching fingerprints. It enables police to match a fingerprint found at the scene of a crime with any individual who has been arrested in the Washington metropolitan area by comparing the print or partial print with all prints in the database. A new Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) was installed in FY 2007 that has enhanced technologies, including palm print and biometric recognition capabilities. Funding of $8.65 million was secured through an Urban Areas Security Initiative grant to cover the cost of AFIS system replacements for the National Capital Region, including NOVARIS, the District of Columbia, as well as Prince George's County and Montgomery County.

Participating Washington metropolitan area jurisdictions share costs associated with NOVARIS based on the sworn police population of each jurisdiction as approved by the NOVARIS Advisory Board on July 30, 1997. In FY 2008, Montgomery and Prince George's counties no longer participate in NOVARIS as those jurisdictions have joined a Maryland regional fingerprint system. However, Loudoun County and the Virginia State Police joined NOVARIS in FY 2008. The system is housed in Fairfax County and is staffed by personnel contributed by the participating jurisdictions. Fairfax County exercises a fiduciary responsibility for the financial management and operation of NOVARIS, with the County contribution made through the Contributory Fund.

The total Fairfax County FY 2011 contribution of $9,577 is a decrease of $541 or 5.35 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan amount of $10,118. The contribution consists of the County's annual share of costs associated with operations and upgrades of NOVARIS. The decrease is due to reduced lease and maintenance requirements based on obligations that have been met, as well as the receipt of additional UASI grant funding to cover AFIS maintenance.

The Board of Supervisors first approved funding of $50,000 for the Partnership for Youth's mentoring program in FY 2000. The Fairfax Partnership on Youth was created in 1997 as an outgrowth of the Community Initiative to Reduce Youth Violence (CIRYV). Its mission is to bring the community together to reduce youth violence and promote positive youth development. This agency seeks to reduce youth violence by facilitating a forum for public and private providers to collaborate, evaluate and create programs, activities and services to better integrate activities, fill gaps and avoid duplication of efforts in the provision of services to youth in the community.

Among the types of initiatives undertaken by the Partnership for Youth include coordination of the Fairfax Mentoring Partnership; provision of the Support on Suspension (S.O.S.) effort, a voluntary community-based program designed to provide students in grades 6-12 with an opportunity to stay abreast of academic work while out of school due to suspension; the Fairfax County After-School Network for middle school-aged youth to minimize involvement in violence or other risky behaviors; assistance to the County on youth survey analysis; youth services information to provide the community with needed resources; advocacy for youth on issues affecting them; and the Youth Suicide and Depression Prevention Task Force to study and reduce risk factors for young people.

The Fairfax County contribution for FY 2011 of $40,375 is a decrease of $2,125 or 5 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution of $42,500. The FY 2011 contribution will be used to supplement funds received from the Commonwealth of Virginia, as well as corporate and other private funding sources.

As part of their deliberations on the FY 2005 budget, the Board of Supervisors approved funding of $51,678 for the George Mason University (GMU) Law and Mental Illness Clinic. In commitment proceedings, the individual against whom the commitment proceeding is brought is invariably represented by appointed counsel, while the family petitioning is rarely represented and is generally not familiar with the rules of evidence or the information required to persuade a judge to order commitment for the individual in severe mental distress. Each County resident who uses this program is assigned a supervising attorney, a third-year law student and a second-year law student to provide legal services. The supervising attorney oversees the general representation and is available to assist the students. The third-year law student acts as the petitioner's advocate, while the second-year student provides paralegal assistance for the third-year student in preparing for the commitment hearing.

Their salaries total $43,678, while the remaining $8,000 is for indirect costs to the University.

Health Systems Agency of Northern Virginia	$86,750	$86,750	$86,750	$86,750

The Health Systems Agency (HSA) of Northern Virginia is a regional body charged with coordinating and improving the health care system for Northern Virginia. To accomplish this, the agency establishes short-term objectives and long-range goals, as well as prepares annual implementation plans. In addition, HSA promotes and assists in community-oriented planning among and within local health care systems, documents and evaluates the need for new services in the region, and reviews health service and facility capital expenditure proposals subject to certificate of public need regulation filed by health service provider organizations in the region. Member jurisdictions include the counties of Fairfax, Arlington, Loudoun and Prince William, as well as the cities of Fairfax, Alexandria, Manassas and Falls Church. Funding contributions to HSA from local jurisdictions are encouraged but are not required.

The Health Systems Agency established a per capita contribution standard of $0.10 over ten years ago. Although Fairfax County has grown significantly in population since that time, the Health Systems Agency's local jurisdiction contribution requests have remained constant due to contributions from other sources. In FY 2011, revenue of $368,550 is projected to be received from three sources: grants and contracts, $181,100 or 49.1 percent; local government contributions, $185,600 or 50.4 percent; and interest earnings and miscellaneous income of $1,850 or 0.6 percent. Fairfax County is the largest local government contributor in FY 2011, providing $86,750 or 46.7 percent of the support received from the local government units.

The FY 2011 Fairfax County funding amount for the Health Systems Agency is $86,750, which is the same level as the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan.

In January 2009, members of the Medical Care for Children Advisory Council and private citizens concerned about health care for children in Fairfax County formed the Medical Care for Children Partnership which is dedicated to conducting fundraising support on behalf of the County for the care of uninsured children in Fairfax County. Specifically, funds are being raised to support the County's contract with Kaiser Permanente which provides health care for approximately 1,300 qualified children in Fairfax County per year. In addition, the MCCP will seek to raise additional funds to cover the costs of private practice providers.

MCCP receives funding from Fairfax County as its sole local government source. The Fairfax County FY 2011 funding amount for this agency is $237,000, which is an increase of $71,000 over the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution of $166,000. This increase is a result of the MCCP utilizing one-time fund balance from FY 2009 to subsidize the FY 2010 contribution.

Northern Virginia Healthcare Center/Birmingham Green Adult Care Residence	$1,573,880	$1,753,315	$1,753,315	$1,847,761

The counties of Fairfax, Fauquier, Loudoun and Prince William, as well as the City of Alexandria established the Northern Virginia Healthcare Center Commission in 1987. Each jurisdiction is represented by a member on the Commission, which operates a long-term healthcare facility with 180 beds that opened in May 1991 known as the Northern Virginia Healthcare Center (Nursing Facility). The Northern Virginia Healthcare Center provides nursing care on a 24-hour basis, which includes professional observation, administration of medications and physician-prescribed treatments. Other services include special diets, recreational activities, physical and occupational therapy, and arrangements for physician, laboratory and radiology services.

The nursing facility is adjacent to the adult care residence, which is operated through an agreement with Birmingham Green Adult Care Residence. This 64-bed facility is also under the auspices of the Commission. This facility primarily provides room and board, along with assistance in activities of daily living for the aged and homeless. Nursing consultation is available and medical services are arranged either through the staff of the nursing home or other community services. Residents are admitted based on sponsorship by their jurisdiction's Public Welfare/Social Services Department. The adult care residence is a shelter for the aged and homeless who are indigent but self-sufficient, mobile and independent in their activities. The combined facilities are commonly known as Birmingham Green.

Construction of a 92-unit facility that will replace the original 64-bed adult care residence began in early FY 2007 and was completed in April 2008. Financing for the new facility was primarily provided through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The new apartment-style facility provides an additional 28 beds for adult care residents.

Operating costs for the facility are partially covered through the Medicaid and General Relief programs at the maximum rates established by the state. To the degree that these funds are inadequate to cover the full costs of the operation of the facility, the sponsoring jurisdictions then subsidize the home on a user formula basis. Each jurisdiction pays for Personnel Services and Operating Expenses at a level proportionate to the number of the jurisdiction's residents at the home. Each jurisdiction's FY 2011 contribution is based on a projected increase in the bed utilization rate due to the first full year of operations for the newly expanded assisted living facility.

The total FY 2011 Fairfax County recommended funding for these facilities is $1,847,761, an increase of $94,446 or 5.39 percent over the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan. This increase is due to a higher bed utilization rate by Fairfax County residents over the past five years. It should be noted that Birmingham Green's overall jurisdictional contribution total remains at the same level as the FY 2010 budget.

Fairfax County made its first contribution to the Udvar-Hazy Center of the Smithsonian Institute's Dulles Air and Space Museum in FY 2000 and has provided a total of $2,580,000 through FY 2009. Since the museum opened in December 2003, over 4.7 million people have visited the center, which brings income to the area. A sample showed that nearly 9 percent of visitors to this facility come from abroad, while 46 percent of the domestic audience drove over 100 miles to visit the center. This translates into overnight stays in the region, with the increased likelihood of visits to other nearby attractions.

Education is a vital part of the mission of the Center. There are classrooms and expanded programs for educators and students, particularly those from Fairfax County. The goal is to teach young people about America's aviation and space heritage, and emphasize the importance of technology.

As part of the FY 2005 Carryover Review, the Board of Supervisors approved $500,000 to support the Lorton Arts Foundation (LAF) financing and capital renewal plan for operation of a center for the arts at the former Lorton Prison site. The Board had previously approved the negotiation of a lease of the former prison site with the Foundation, which proposed to use funds generated by leasing the various facilities to individual artists and performing arts groups. The Foundation's plan includes public restaurants, residential facilities for artists in residence, and a prison museum in addition to artist studios and a small theater. Initially LAF believed that the project would be self-sustaining and could operate without additional resources from the County. However, after subsequent review and financial analysis by outside consultants knowledgeable in the creation and operation of facilities of this type, LAF found an underwriter willing to undertake financing of the renovations, but determined that County support would be needed during the first few years of renovation and operational start-up. LAF requested that Fairfax County provide $1,000,000 annually as maintenance support. They also requested that the County agree to lease back a portion of the rental space if other tenants are not available, for a timeframe and lease rate to be negotiated between the County and LAF. The lease will provide for reducing or eliminating the County's cash support commensurate with the Foundation's ability to become self-sustaining.

Subsequent contributions are dependent on continuing fund-raising efforts which are evaluated each year. Funding of $1,000,000 is included for FY 2011 so it is available in that fiscal year when the required matching funds have been raised. The FY 2011 funding level is consistent with the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan.

Parklands within the system include: Bull Run, Bull Run Marina, Fountainhead, Sandy Run, Pohick Bay, Carlyle House Historic Park, Potomac Overlook, Upton Hill, Algonkian, Red Rock, the W&OD Trail, Occoquan, Hemlock Overlook, Cameron Run, Gateway, Meadowlark Gardens, Ball's Bluff, Temple Hall, Brambleton, Aldie Mill and Blue Ridge Park. In addition, the NVRPA administers extensive regional historic and conservation properties throughout Northern Virginia. These community resources are supported primarily from the annual contributions of its six member jurisdictions: the counties of Fairfax, Loudoun and Arlington, and the cities of Fairfax, Alexandria and Falls Church. Each member jurisdiction's contribution is in direct proportion to its share of the region's population. In the past decade, the entire population served by the NVRPA grew to 1.7 million residents and is expected to approach 2.0 million by 2020.

Current projections indicate that $4,390,829 will be expended from the NVRPA's General Fund and $14,758,920 will be expended from the NVRPA's Enterprise Fund for a total of $19,149,749 in FY 2011. The NVRPA is asking member jurisdictions for $3,440,267 which is consistent with the FY 2010. For FY 2011, NVRPA projects that 81.8 percent of operating costs will be funded with park revenues, with the remaining 18.2 percent coming from member jurisdictions. Fairfax County's contribution to the Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority in FY 2011 is $1,979,537, which is a decrease of $104,186 or 5 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan of $2,083,723.

Fairfax County comprises 60.57 percent of the total population served by this agency projected for FY 2011, which is a decrease from the 61.3 percent figure for the FY 2010 budget. Localities' contributions are based upon their percentage of the total population as provided by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. It should be noted that in addition to the operating contribution, an amount of $2,700,000 has been included in Fund 306, Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority, as the FY 2011 annual capital contribution.

The Virginia Opera Company fosters appreciation of the arts through a variety of educational programs offered to school children. It has grown in recent years to become the eighteenth largest opera in the nation, based on budget and due in large part to its operations in Fairfax County. In the 2007-2008 season, the Virginia Opera Company presented four fully staged operas at the George Mason University Center for the Arts. Furthermore, the Virginia Opera's education program provides County students with access to age-appropriate opera presentations at their schools. In FY 2007, 54 performances were presented to public schools in Fairfax County.

The Virginia Opera Company first received a County contribution of $25,000 in FY 1999. No funding is included in FY 2011 due to actions required to balance the FY 2011 budget.

A private/public partnership was established in 1968 between the Wolf Trap Foundation and the National Park Service for the operation of the Wolf Trap Farm Park for the Performing Arts in Vienna, Virginia. The partnership was founded through a gift of land to the United States Government. The National Park Service maintains the property and conducts parking and audience management.

The Foundation, with a $28.4 million budget, is responsible for all other aspects of running the facility, including the presentation of a wide variety of performances and educational programs. Foundation programs reach approximately 600,000 people in Fairfax County each year at two sites: the Filene Center, a 7,000-seat outdoor amphitheater in a park-like setting, and the Barns of Wolf Trap, two 18th Century barns reconstructed at Wolf Trap using original building materials and techniques.

Fund 119 Contributory Fund

In FY 1999, Fairfax County began contributing $25,000 to Wolf Trap to support the Foundation's efforts to provide Fairfax County citizens with access to the best possible performing arts, as well as position Fairfax County nationally as a leader in the arts and arts-in-education. Educational programs focusing on Fairfax County's young children and their teachers, parents and caregivers include development workshops for teachers, family involvement workshops, and field trip performances. The amount is not based on a formula, per capita, or any other formal agreement. As part of their deliberations on the FY 2005 budget, the Board of Supervisors approved an increase in the annual contribution from $25,000 to $125,000 to support education programs. The FY 2011 contribution is $100,938 which is a decrease of $5,313 or 5 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution.

In September 2007, the Board of Supervisors designated three non-profit organizations as contributory agencies in order to further assist the County in achieving a tree canopy goal of 45 percent, requiring the community to plant millions of trees over the next 30 years. In accordance with this effort, $36,000 was approved for the Center for Chesapeake Communities, a nonprofit organization that helps provide local governments with tools to protect their own natural resources and the Chesapeake Bay, with the recognition that actions at the local level, from land use planning to stream protection, greatly affect the Bay.

The Center's goal is to provide large, small, urban and rural municipalities with the information, education and training that supports sustainable development practices that protect the Bay. The central principle of the Center is that economic, social and environmental goals can be achieved simultaneously if systems, policies and procedures are designed to work interdependently. To help achieve that, the Center maintains a clearinghouse of models, tools and strategies pertaining to stormwater management, site planning, and pollution prevention that local governments are successfully implementing.

The Center also holds topic-specific training sessions where local government officials can hear about the latest environmental protection techniques. The Center also helps to put local government experts in touch with each other to share expertise and experiences on resource protection, planning, and management.

The FY 2011 Fairfax County funding included for this agency is $29,070, which is a decrease of $1,530 or 5 percent from the FY 2010 funding level. County funding will assist the Center in developing a tree canopy tracking mechanism that will be used as a regional model to report tree planning for the regional Air Quality Management Plan.

Notably, Earth Sangha supports a native forest gardener network which produces, conserves and restores native plants of the Washington, DC metropolitan area. This program aims to produce batches of seedlings that are genetically diverse, locally adapted and representative of the native forest flora. Volunteer opportunities involve planting the native seedlings, shrubs, wild flowers, grasses and trees in local parks, fields, and forests. Earth Sangha partners with the Fairfax County Department of Public Works and Environmental Services and the Fairfax County Park Authority on several planting events throughout the County, including at Wilburdale Park in Annandale, Waverly Park in Vienna, Frying Pan Park in Herndon, and Sully Historic Park in Chantilly, among others.

Northern Virginia Community College	$92,200	$91,110	$91,110	$90,181

Northern Virginia Community College (NVCC) is a comprehensive institution of higher education offering programs of instruction generally extending not more than two years beyond the high school level. The College currently has six campuses (Alexandria, Annandale, Loudoun, Manassas and Springfield for medical education and Woodbridge) with permanent facilities constructed on each site. Each year, the College serves more than 60,000 students in credit-earning courses and more than 20,000 students in continuing education and training activities.

NVCC projects FY 2011 expenditures of $218,819 for base operating requirements to be funded with $187,429 from local jurisdictions. This amount includes $198,792 for General Administration (President's Office, College Board travel and memberships, student scholarships, loans, and grants), $16,000 for Community Services (community information), and $4,027 for a contingency reserve. The base, which is funded by the governing bodies of the local jurisdictions served by the College, as well as any fund balances supports additional services that cannot be provided under the College's annual state fiscal appropriations. For example, local funding provides for increased matching loan funds and support of community service activities. This local funding is for Operating Expenses only and is not applied toward Personnel Services. The local jurisdictions served by the College are requested to contribute their share of the College's base expenditure, which is calculated on a per capita basis as reported by the College using population figures from the Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service.

Fund 119 Contributory Fund

The FY 2011 Fairfax County contribution to this agency for operations and maintenance is $90,181, a decrease of $929 or 1.02 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan, due primarily to shifts in population among the contributing jurisdictions. This amount reflects the County's share of the services provided to Fairfax County residents as reported by the College and is 48.1 percent of the local jurisdictions' contributions totaling $187,429 for FY 2011.

In addition, County funding of $1,271,647 is included in Fund 303, County Construction, for an annual capital contribution to the College based on a $1.25 per capita population figure provided by the Weldon Cooper Center. Funding provides for the continued construction and maintenance of various capital projects on college campuses within the NVCC system.

Northern Virginia Conservation Trust	$282,047	$239,740	$239,740	$227,753

During their deliberations on the FY 2001 Advertised Budget Plan, the Board of Supervisors funded a non-recurring (one-time) amount of $209,076 for the Northern Virginia Conservation Trust (NVCT) (formerly the Fairfax Land Preservation Trust). An amount of $170,000 was funded to enable the County to further its conservation efforts and meet public need without creating new County positions. This amount included $80,000 for land costs/purchases directly related to conservation easements, $45,000 for public outreach funding to support staff and material for educating the public about conservation, and $45,000 for administrative support for staff and materials for the management of Fairfax County conservation efforts. It was anticipated that the contribution amount would be partially matched by approximately $75,000 in other contributions to the Trust in FY 2001. The County's total contribution also included $39,076 that was paid to the Park Authority to eliminate the balance of a loan obligation associated with seed money for the Trust and office space provided by the Park Authority. Recurring funding for NVCT began in FY 2002.

The primary purpose of the public/private partnership between NVCT and Fairfax County is for NVCT to assist the County in the preservation of natural areas and historic properties through the use of conservation/open space easements, land gifts and acquisition of open space. The Trust is also tasked with educating the public on the importance of conservation and the County's abundant natural resources through outreach programs. Through this partnership, NVCT has been able to permanently conserve nearly 650 acres in Fairfax County. The most notable recently created preservation area was the permanent protection of 75 acres on the Potomac River Gorge through three conservation easements. This stretch serves as a habitat for a variety of rare species and 30 different vegetation communities. In addition, this stretch provides an important river view shed for National Parks and other public river vistas.

The Trust also operates an "Adventures in Conservation" outreach program to bring hands-on volunteerism and environmental education opportunities to the public. In FY 2011, these activities include planting thousands of native trees, removing invasive plants, and conducting birding trips and guided hikes. FY 2011 funding of $227,753 is included, which is a decrease of $11,987 or 5 percent from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan contribution of $239,740.

It is governed by a five-member Board of Directors, three of whom are elected every four years by the voters of Fairfax County and two who are appointed by the Virginia Soil and Water Conservation Board. Accordingly, the work of NVSWCD supports many of the environmental efforts set forth in the Board of Supervisors' Environmental Excellence 20-year Vision Plan. Technical assistance and information are provided to state and local government agencies as well as private citizens. The goal of the NVSWCD is to continue to improve the quality of the environment and general welfare of the citizens of Fairfax County by providing them with a means of dealing with soil, water conservation and related natural resource problems. It provides County agencies with comprehensive environmental evaluations for proposed land use changes with particular attention to the properties of soils, erosion potential, drainage and the impact on the surrounding environment.

Beginning in FY 2011, funding of the County share of the base operating requirements for NVSWCD is being provided in the newly created Fund 125, Stormwater Services. The FY 2011 contribution is $423,271 or 65.89 percent of the agency's projected expenditures totaling $642,375 and reflects an increase of $1,281 over the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan total.

The Occoquan Watershed Monitoring Program (OWMP) and the Occoquan Watershed Monitoring Laboratory (OWML) were established to ensure that water quality is monitored and protected in the Occoquan Watershed. Given the many diverse uses of the land and water resources in the Occoquan Watershed (agriculture, silviculture, urban residential development, commercial and industrial activity, water supply, and wastewater disposal), the OWMP provides a critical role as the unbiased interpreter of basin water quality information. The cost of the OWMP is equally divided between water supply and sewage users. As a result, 50 percent of Operating Expenses is supported by the Fairfax County Water Authority and 50 percent by the participants: Fairfax, Fauquier, Loudoun and Prince William counties, and the cities of Manassas and Manassas Park. The Watershed Monitoring Program Funding Agreement of 1988 requires that Fairfax County provide 12.5 percent of the direct costs.

Beginning in FY 2011, funding of the County share for OWMP is being provided in the newly created Fund 125, Stormwater Services. The total amount included in Fund 125, Stormwater Services for Fairfax County's FY 2011 share is $112,559.

As part of their deliberations on the FY 2005 budget, the Board of Supervisors approved funding of $31,442 to provide a contribution to the OpenDoor Housing Fund – formerly known as the Washington Area Housing Trust Fund. The general membership of the Council of Governments (COG) recommended that local governments support a voluntary per capita assessment of $0.03 to fund WAHTF operations. Capital support is provided through the federal government and private sector grants. Operational funding provided by area local governments will be leveraged to attract capitalization dollars. It also allows the trust fund to loan money at a highly subsidized rate, which helps to lower the cost of housing in this region.

Fund 119 Contributory Fund

During a 2006 strategic planning process, WAHTF realized that its lending was not having a significant enough impact on regional affordable development and that there were opportunities to merge with another successful community development financial institution, the Unitarian Universalist Affordable Housing Corporation in order to maximize efficiency and both organizations' impact. In October 2006, boards of both organizations, which included representation by Fairfax County, approved combining both into one, and is renamed the OpenDoor Housing Fund.

The OpenDoor Housing Fund's mission is unchanged, which is to provide flexible capital from a variety of sources including government, philanthropic and corporate entities to increase the supply of affordable and workforce housing for low and moderate income households and housing for various special needs populations in the Washington metropolitan area; to positively impact the delivery of affordable housing finance in this region; and provide technical assistance to help potential borrowers obtain financing and successfully complete affordable housing development.

In FY 2011, Fairfax County's share for the OpenDoor Housing Fund is $31,776, which is consistent with the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan.

The Southeast Fairfax Development Corporation (SFDC) is a private, nonprofit organization that operates under a Memorandum of Understanding between the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and the SFDC. For almost 25 years, the Corporation has promoted, encouraged, facilitated and guided economic development and revitalization on the 7.5 mile length of Richmond Highway from the Capital Beltway to Fort Belvoir, the largest of the County's seven designated revitalization areas. It provides marketing and promotion aimed at business attraction and retention; direct assistance to developers and businesses; and to a lesser degree, land use planning and coordination with the Richmond Highway community. It is this community consensus that makes revitalization/redevelopment possible. SFDC is committed to improving the quality of life, creation and retention of jobs, community appearance and increased tax base. Its 18-member volunteer Board of Directors is representative of the community.

SFDC continues to foster growth in existing businesses, while simultaneously promoting the physical renovation of the area through initiatives involving beautification, developmental planning, and ongoing market studies and needs assessments. SFDC sees an even greater need for its services as a result of the Department of Defense's (DoD) Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) recommendations announced in May 2005. It is anticipated that over 19,000 DoD employees will be redeployed to Fort Belvoir and the Engineer Proving Grounds, with an additional 23,000 government contracting jobs also expected to relocate to the area. Services include individual and group workshop sessions for women covering such areas as divorce, separation, financial planning and legal rights. It is anticipated that in FY 2010, 58 percent of requests for service will come from Fairfax County residents.

In FY 2011, the Center anticipates receiving approximately 50,000 requests for services from County residents to meet the interrelated psychological, practical, legal and financial needs of these County residents, many of whom are financially disadvantaged and require low-cost services. The mission of the Fairfax Public Law Library is to promote justice by providing all citizens with access to legal information. The legal resources available in the Law Library are not available to the public at any other single location within the County. In 2001, Fairfax County, the Clerk of the Court, and the Fairfax Bar Association (FBA) entered into an agreement with regard to the Law Library. The agreement provides that Fairfax County, through the Fairfax County Public Library (FCPL), shall have primary responsibility for the administration of the Law Library, while the FBA has primary responsibility for its management.

The Law Library receives over 66 percent of its funding from assessments of $4 on civil case filings in the General District and Circuit Courts; projected at $204,000 in FY 2011. The annual contribution of $92,657 from the County is provided to assist the Law Library with operational costs. Other revenue projected for FY 2010 includes $21,000 earned for Library services including copier charges, $20,000 from the Fairfax Bar Foundation, $5,500 in miscellaneous income and $0 from the Friends of the Law Library for a total of $343,157.

Currently located in the recently expanded Fairfax County Judicial Center, the Fairfax Public Law Library assists the public as well as members of the legal community with locating sources for legal information and provides bibliographic instruction. In addition to the collection, the Law Library has four work stations dedicated to providing general information on divorce, immigration, estate planning and employment for patrons, as well as five computer work stations where the public may access legal materials on CD-ROMs and online databases. In recent years, the Law Library has decreased its printed materials and increased subscriptions to online databases as a result of decreased filing fees.

In spring 2008, the Law Library moved from its old location to the the first floor of the expanded court house facility. The Fairfax Public Law Library served over 80,000 patrons in FY 2009, approximately 30 percent of who are legal professionals, while the remaining 70 percent are from the general public. Many are in need of legal information because they are unable to afford legal representation but do not qualify for free legal services.

The total FY 2011 Fairfax County funding for this agency is $92,657, which is unchanged from the FY 2010 Adopted Budget Plan.

Contributory Fund Fund 703 - NOVARIS

Non-Appropriated Funds

Fairfax County exercises a fiduciary responsibility for the financial management and operation of the Northern Virginia Regional Identification System (NOVARIS). Therefore, this fund is displayed here for information. Participating Washington Metropolitan Area jurisdictions share costs associated with NOVARIS based on the sworn police population of each jurisdiction as approved by the NOVARIS Advisory Board on July 30, 1997.

The Fairfax County contribution is made through the Contributory Fund. The total Fairfax County FY 2011 contribution is $9,577, which represents the County's annual share of costs associated with operations and upgrades of NOVARIS. The NOVARIS Fund Statement is shown on the next page.

NOVARIS utilizes state-of-the-art computer equipment to identify criminals by categorizing and matching fingerprints. It enables police to match a fingerprint found at the scene of a crime with any individual who has been arrested in the Washington metropolitan area by comparing the print or partial print with all prints in the database. In FY 2009, 495,955 fingerprint cards were maintained the system and the database, which helped to make 692 latent fingerprint identifications.

Funding of $4.57 million was secured through an Urban Areas Security Initiative (UASI) grant to cover the cost of Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) system replacements and maintenance for the National Capital Region, including NOVARIS, the District of Columbia, as well as Prince George's County and Montgomery County. In FY 2010, NOVARIS was awarded additional Urban Areas Security Initiative (UASI) funding for the maintenance of the new system which reduces member jurisdictions' payments in FY 2011 and FY 2012. Future grants will be explored to fund maintenance after FY 2012.
