HISTORIC SITES

near Richmond Highway are listed in the Fairfax County Inventory of Historic Sites

Some of the most important Heritage Resources in the county are located within one mile of the Richmond Highway Corridor. While the area contains a number of listed historic sites, the potential to identify additional heritage resources continues. The county is continuing work to survey the area and identify potential historic sites.

The Huntley and Woodlawn Overlay Districts are within a half-mile of the corridor study area. These Districts are protected by local zoning ordinances.
