Marymount University

Mission

Marymount University is an independent Catholic University that emphasizes academic excellence at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Committed to the liberal arts tradition, the University combines a foundation in the arts and sciences with career preparation and opportunities for personal and professional development. Marymount is a student-centered learning community that values diversity and focuses on the education of the whole person, promoting the intellectual, spiritual, and moral growth of each individual. Scholarship, leadership, service, and ethics are hallmarks of a Marymount education.

History of Marymount University

The name "Marymount" has long been associated with excellence in education. Its roots reach back to 1849 and the establishment of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary in Beziers, France. Dedicated to serving the poor and needy, the RSHM sisters founded a series of schools throughout western Europe. In 1877 they reached the United States, and in 1917 they expanded their mission to include higher education. Today, the RSHM legacy is proudly shared by the following institutions of higher learning: Marymount College, Tarrytown, New York; Marymount University, Arlington, Virginia; Marymount College, Palos Verdes, California; and Loyola Marymount, Los Angeles. Additional ministries extend from Brazil to Zimbabwe.

Since its founding in 1950, the Marymount community in Virginia has grown from a handful of students and faculty to a comprehensive, coeducational university serving approximately 3,600 undergraduate and graduate students.

NEW PRESIDENT of Marymount College, Mother M. Magella, R.S.H.M., former regent of Marymount College, New York, and Tarrytown, N. Y. Mother Magella also served as regent of Marymount College in Arlington in 1907. Reverend Mother Berchmans Walsh, R.S.H.M., the former president of Marymount College, has been appointed superior of Marymount School, 5th Ave., New York.
