

Comparison of the Final and Draft COG Round 7 Forecast with Existing and Future Development Potential in Tysons Corner

Below are three charts comparing the existing and planned employment, housing and population in Tysons Corner with the Draft and Final COG Round 7 Forecasts. The employment figures in both the Draft and Final COG Round 7 Forecasts remained the same. However, the housing and population numbers were modified in the final forecast and show a better balance between employment and housing.

Chart 1: Tysons Existing and Future Employment

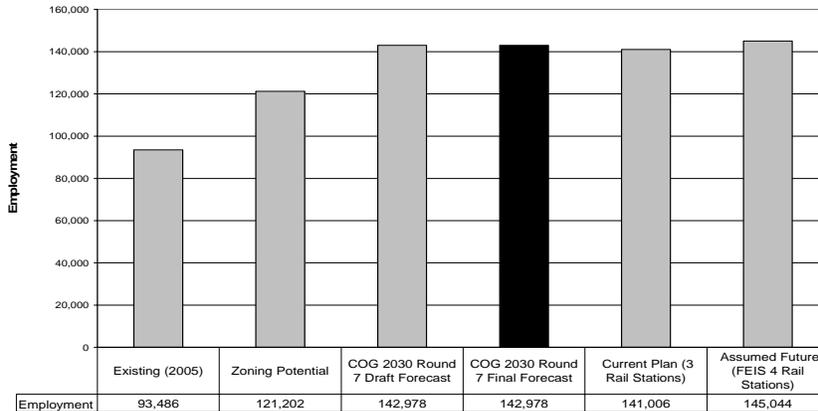

Chart 1 shows employment in the 2030 forecast reaching the current Plan's build-out.

Chart 2: Tysons Existing and Future Housing

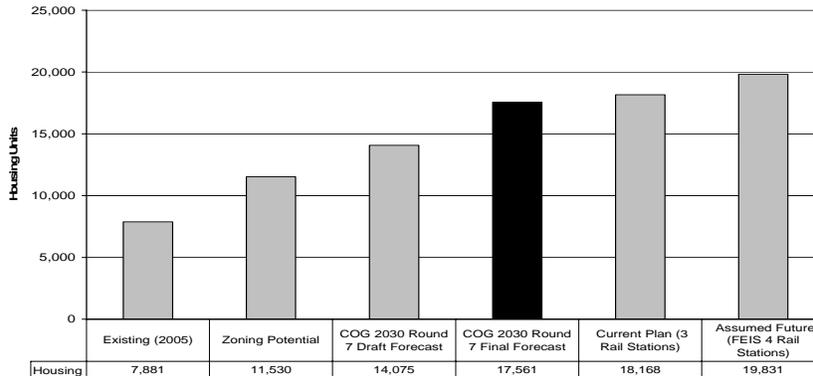

Chart 2 shows the 2030 final forecast has about 3,500 more housing units than the draft forecast, which provides a better balance between employment and housing.

Chart 3: Tysons Existing and Future Population
