GB Arrington, Presenter

GB Arrington is a Vice President with PB PlaceMaking and Project Manager of the Tysons Corner Transportation and Urban Design Study. He is an internationally recognized leader in transit-oriented development (TOD) and leads PB's global TOD practice, linking major transit investments and land use planning to create livable communities with lasting value.

Judith Meany, PhD, Moderator

Judith Meany has taught real estate and urban planning at Catholic University's School of Architecture Planning for over 16 years. She also has over 20 years of experience in real estate acquisition and development, 15 of those years at Tysons area firms.

Robert Wulff, Panelist

Robert Wulff is Senior Vice President at B.F. Saul Company in Bethesda, MD. Previously he worked for over 18 years with the Hazel/Peterson Companies. An active member of the Urban Land Institute, Mr. Wulff was director of its Leadership Institute. In that capacity he designed and taught a workshop for Fairfax County staff, on strategies and tools to create public-private partnerships.

Richard Reinhard, Panelist

Richard Reinhard is the Deputy Executive Director of the Downtown D.C. Business Improvement District. Prior to joining the BID, he directed the Infrastructure Initiative at the Urban Land Institute. Mr. Reinhard has managed urban revitalization organizations in Richmond, Buffalo, Atlanta and Londonderry, Northern Ireland.

James Snyder, Panelist

James Snyder recently completed a career of over 30 years with Arlington County Planning. There he worked with the development community and with citizen groups to make the successful transit-oriented development of the Rosslyn-Ballston corridor a reality. Mr. Snyder is currently an adjunct professor in the Urban Affairs and Planning program at Virginia Tech's Alexandria campus.
