

Michael A. Creedon, D.S.W.

I wish to serve on the Fairfax County Long Term Care Council because I have spent the past 30 years as a researcher, educator and trainer in the field of long-term care. I feel that I can make a contribution to the LTCCC from the perspective of a gerontology professor – currently associated with Johns Hopkins University and AT Still University of the Health Sciences. As a resident of the County it is important to me that we meet the needs of frail citizens of Fairfax County in effective and innovative ways. It has been an honor to work with community leaders and county staff on the Council in the past and I will be glad to continue to serve.