Hunter Mill District
 Supervisor Cathy Hudgins

Dear Hunter Mill Friends,

"No act of kindness, no matter how small, is ever wasted." Aesop 620 BC-540 BC

I am grateful for the kindness of both friends and strangers, always and certainly recently. My thanks to all of you for your support and understanding during my family's most difficult of times. Yes, it has been truly difficult and I have taken, and continue to take, great solace in the kind words and generous acts of the community. Thank you.

In truth, the Fairfax community has a long history of compassion, mutual support and patient understanding. The following examples demonstrate what exactly I mean.

Today we are 21 days away from the opening of the 2015 World Police and Fire Games. In three short weeks, public safety officer athletes from around the globe will be coming to compete in Fairfax County and the Washington, DC region. As we prepare to welcome our global visitors, I am blown away by the fact that over 4,000 Fairfax County folks have stepped up and are volunteering for service during the Games. It's not too late to join them; for details <https://wpfg15.fusesport.com/registration/194/wpfgwebsite/>

Not so long ago, I participated in a Reston Historic Trust installation ceremony of a Virginia Historical Marker at Lake Anne Village Center. Some folks may think that it was just another ribbon-cutting event with little impact. Actually, nothing could be farther from the truth. It was a very big deal. It is an example of over fifty years planning and self-less work by countless individuals investing time, talent, and treasure in a trail-blazing experiment of "New Town" building. The return on this investment has been huge with a precedent-setting redefinition of community.

I recently attended the Lord and Lady Fairfax Awards. It was an event celebrating superior volunteer service, heroism, or other special accomplishments on the part of the honoree. The Program yearly honors two volunteer leaders from each Fairfax County Magisterial District. The two outstanding Hunter Mill honorees for 2015 were Adelle Jones and Ken Fredgren. More amazing than these two awesome Hunter Mill Honorees is the fact that every year since 1984, there have been 2 equally distinguished honorees recognized. Quite an impressive total of individuals who have quietly, effectively, altruistically enriched our community.

Finally, if you would like to offer some of your time to serve on a Fairfax County board, authority, or commission, volunteer in our office, or help out occasionally, we are organizing a resume bank. Yours would be most welcome; simply forward it to huntermill@fairfaxcounty.gov.

Again, my thanks and gratitude go to the wonderful people of the Hunter Mill District. It is a tremendous honor to live here and serve you.

Reston Master Plan Special Study Phase II

On Tuesday, June 2nd, with my motion, the Board of Supervisors approved language updating the Reston Master Plan/ Comprehensive Plan (Plan) for Reston. This action was the culmination of activity that began in 2009.

In February of 2014, the Board of Supervisors approved language for mixed-use development in the Transit Station Areas (TSA) that promotes Transit Oriented Development (TOD). In Reston, the highest density is focused along the area of the three TSA, within a half a mile of each station. The plan language also promotes multi-modal transportation systems, fosters environmental stewardship, urban parks, recreational facilities and schools.

With the approval of ST09-III-UP1 (B), the revisions to the Plan focus on preserving Reston's residential neighborhoods, while promoting the transformation of the Village Centers into true community gathering places with a vibrant mix of uses, public plazas and high quality design and architecture.

New residential development language addresses housing diversity and affordability through the provision of different styles, types and pricing, and includes senior and universal design. The Multi-model transportation system framework features robust bicycle and pedestrian networks. Urban design guidance protects and maintains Reston's unique design character.

The combination of these amendments will inform future development in Reston, while maintaining the initial vision, successful for the past fifty years, of a live, work and play community environment.

The Reston Plan is available on Fairfax County Department of Planning and Zoning project website at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/dpz/reston/>. A special video is available for viewing at https://youtu.be/c\_DBdSSy4zI.

Hunter Mill Road Study Update

In February, Fairfax County Department of Transportation (FCDOT) worked with community members to develop different transportation options for Hunter Mill Road between Sunrise Valley Drive and Colvin Run Bridge. These options were geared to meet the current and future traffic needs for the study corridor. Options are being analyzed and the results will be reported to the community in the next few months.

Based on the comments from the May 20 public meeting, FCDOT will be looking at some alternative intersection combinations and traffic models. These include roundabouts and a traffic signal for the stretch between Sunrise Valley Drive and Colvin Run bridge. Information about the study is available at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/fcdot/huntermillstudy.htm>.

Public Safety

Fairfax County Police Department Helicopter Division

The Fairfax County Police Helicopter Division provides tactical police aviation support, aeromedical evacuation, search and rescue, and other specialized air support as needed within Fairfax County and the National Capital Region to enhance public safety and welfare. In addition, flight logs from their missions are posted on their web site for the public. The information is available at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/police/helicopter/>

Community Emergency Response Team

Have you ever thought what would happen to our community if we had an earthquake similar to Nepal or flooding like Houston, Texas? Is Fairfax County ready for a major disaster? There is a group of individuals who are preparing themselves to provide assistance during these types of disasters. The Fairfax County Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) program prepares regular citizens to safely help themselves, their families, and their communities during major emergencies where first responders are delayed.

During CERT training, experienced instructors from the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department and CERT volunteers teach disaster response skills, such as fire suppression, light search and rescue, team organization, and disaster medical operations. In hands-on training, classroom learning, and realistic exercises, CERTs learn how to prepare for disasters, and if a disaster occurs, what to do until professional first responders arrive.

CERTs deploy only during major disasters of such large scale that regular emergency services are overwhelmed (for example, earthquakes or major storms that produce mass casualties), and only to help their neighborhoods and local communities. For additional information on the CERT program, visit <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/fr/cert/cert.htm>.
