Project to Repair Wakefield Tennis Courts Starts This Month

The Fairfax County Park Authority will soon begin work on the tennis courts at Wakefield Park in Annandale, Va. Mid-Atlantic Courts and Supplies, Inc. will begin mobilizing on site around July 24, 2014, with active repair activities beginning on or shortly after that date.

The project includes surface repairs to five courts, including pressure washing, filling and patching cracks, resurfacing, color coating, and lining. The repaired courts are scheduled to re-open to the public this August. Mid-Atlantic will access the courts via the Dominion Power service road. Even if construction activity isn't evident at the time, courts may be closed due to wet court conditions or to allow curing time for resurfaced areas and color coating.

Four more tennis courts will be repaired starting March 2015. That project will include the removal and replacement of old fencing, asphalt, footers, and nets.
