Meet the Train at McLean Central Park

On Saturday, April 19, 2014 meet the train at McLean Central Park. Engine #62 of the Resources Railroad is beginning its spring program season and will be chugging around McLean Central Park from noon until 2 p.m. Engine #62 is Fairfax County Park Authority's new trackless train that is traveling around to area parks introducing families to our natural and cultural resources.

Riders will be treated to interpretive stops along the way, focusing on the signs of spring. See the springtime habitat of amphibians, birds and fish. Look for plants waking from winter and learn how tree roots and vines provide cover for small animals. Look for signs of some very special woodland residents and see if you can spot a brown bunny.

The train will depart from and return to the basketball court near the parking lot behind the library. Tickets are $3 per person for ages three to adult. Purchase your tickets on site. We are accepting cash only for this special ride. No reservations are required.

McLean Central Park is located at 1468 Dolley Madison Blvd. in McLean, next to McLean Public Library and Community Center.
