Park Authority Publishes FY 2014 Annual Report Online

It's time once again to look back and celebrate our recent accomplishments, challenges and progress with the Fairfax County Park Authority's Fiscal Year 2014 Annual Report. This online publication can be found at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/parks/annualreport/. The report provides a snapshot of agency initiatives highlights significant events and provides narrative and photographs that help tell our story.

In FY 2014, this agency renewed efforts to collaborate and establish new partnerships. The results are telling as described by Park Authority Board Chairman Bill Bouie who noted, "Whether it's environmental education programs with the public schools; contractors rebuilding the gazebo at Green Spring Gardens; or construction firms and energy companies helping to restore stream valley parks, provide scholarships for summer camp and fund our free summer concert series; we depend on these partnerships and welcome more in the future."

Check out the report and find out about our Smoke Free parks, the Combo Classic golf tournament that pairs disabled individuals with able bodied players, as well as our capital projects and planning initiatives. We highlight the people who made a significant difference for parks and also provide photographs that give you a flavor of the diversity of activities and people found in our parks.
