Park Authority FY2015 Annual Report Available Online

The Park Authority has been celebrating 65 years of Making Parks Count in Fairfax County, and you can read all about the agency's recent events and accomplishments in the Fiscal Year 2015 Annual Report at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/parks/annualreport/>.

This 65th Anniversary edition of the annual report highlights 65 things you can do in county parks and looks back at the many special events that marked this historic year. Highlights include the expanded Water Mine water park at Lake Fairfax, the opening of Sully Highlands Park, improvements at Clemyjontri Park in McLean, and award-winning expansions at the Spring Hill and Oak Marr RECenters. Park Board Chairman William Bouie calls FY2015 a "remarkable" year.

Not only did Parks Count in FY2015, your opinion counted, too. The Park Authority started a Needs Assessment survey process that reached 15,000 households. In the Director's Message, Kirk Kincannon discusses the Park Authority's expanded community engagement and how our parks are continuously improving and changing to meet the needs of our diverse community. He also offers reasons for continued optimism about our award-winning park system.

Through words and photos, the report touches on items from every park division. It links to important documents, provides a look at dedicated People in our Parks, offers a Parks by the Numbers rundown, and lists important contact information. From camps to classes, festivals to fishing, and playgrounds to putting, the annual report provides a snapshot of the many ways Parks Count in Fairfax County.
