Take a Healthy Trick or Treat Challenge at the Wakefield Farmers Market

Harvest season may be winding down, but Fairfax County's Farmers Markets are still going strong with special autumn events.

Put on your costume and head to the Wakefield Farmers Market on Wednesday, October 26, 2016. Forget about all that Halloween candy in the stores and give your kids a chance to participate in a healthy trick or treat challenge. The market operates from 2 to 6 p.m. at 8100 Braddock Road in Annandale, Virginia.

The county's farmers markets are strictly producer-only. That means the vendors who participate must grow or make from scratch everything they bring to market. Customers have the unique opportunity to ask farmers directly about their growing methods, animal welfare practices or anything else they might be curious about.

For a Produce Guide of harvest times please visit:
