Braddock District Supervisor

The Braddock Beacon

July 2020 Edition

Dear Neighbor,

Virginia entered Phase 3 of Governor Northam's reopening plan this week and it includes one significant change from the Phase 3 guidance shared in our previous Walkinshaw Advisory email. At this week's meeting of the Board of Supervisors Health and Human Services Committee, I expressed my hope that Governor Northam would reconsider his initial decision to allow restaurants and bar areas of restaurants to operate at 100% of their indoor capacity with six feet between tables. You can watch the video of the meeting here, including an update on our COVID-19 response efforts from the Director of the Fairfax County Health Department.

While here in Virginia our COVID-19 data has improved, other states are seeing a dramatic increase in transmission of the virus and many have cited the decision to allow indoor dining and congregating in bar areas as a driver of those increases. Indoor dining and congregating in bars present a trifecta of unsafe circumstances -- they take place indoors with limited air circulation, patrons are not wearing masks while eating and drinking, and social distancing guidelines are often not observed.

I'm grateful that Governor Northam responded to the data we have from other states and adjusted his guidelines to maintain the closure of bar areas in restaurants. You can read more about that decision here.

On a non-COVID topic, the Braddock District owes a debt of gratitude to the Girl Scouts of Troop 120. Thanks to their dogged advocacy, we now have a Purple Can glass recycling bin at Wakefield Park. In early March, I attended a meeting of the North Springfield Civic Association and was greeted by one of the more effective lobbying efforts I've encountered. Troop 120 had reviewed the map of existing Purple Can locations, surveyed their neighborhood to demonstrate the demand for glass recycling, and presented me with a petition demanding a bin at Wakefield Park. How could I say no?

After receiving their petition and handwritten letters, our office went to work. First, we got agreement from the Park Authority and identified a suitable location within the park. Then we worked with the Department of Public Works and Environmental Services to stake a claim on the next available bin. Due to COVID-19, it took a bit longer than we had hoped. But the Purple Can is there now and ready for the long weekend!

There's a lot of cynicism about government these days -- some of it well-deserved -- but I hope this experience showed the Girl Scouts of Troop 120 that their voices matter and they can make a difference. Thank you to Scouts Molly Corcoran, Olivia Castellucci, Zara Alsaegh, Sarah Guy, Charlotte Holbrook, Charlotte Brown, Amalka Benavides, and Troop Leader Jennifer Ellis Corcoran.

Yours in service,

Supervisor James Walkinshaw

P.S. Please have a happy and safe 4th of July!

Citizen of the Month

Jake Sizemore

Lake Braddock Secondary School student Jake Sizemore is a multi-instrumentalist who plays and sings as both a solo artist and in several groups. He performed over 50 times last year for charity events, weddings, for state and local politicians and at festivals and local venues.

Jake has always been an inspiration, for all that he has overcome and for bringing smiles to our faces with his excellent performances. Jake was diagnosed with autism at the age of two, but he has excelled thanks to his determination and his mother's early advocacy for the education he deserves. Jake has significant challenges communicating but his perfect pitch, astounding memory for music, and great stage presence have given him a path to a bright future. He is the ultimate example of #abilityindisability - the importance of looking at everyone for what they can do, not what they can't do. His story illustrates the importance of full inclusion of people with disabilities as valued members of every aspect of society.

During the pandemic, Jake has stepped up to help out. He's been holding regular performances in front of his house to raise funds for struggling local businesses that had to close, and nonprofits helping Fairfax County residents. Jake's recent efforts have supported Epicure Café, Caboose Commons, ECHO's Food Bank, Centreville Dance Academy, University Mall Theatres and Britepaths.

In addition, since school went virtual Jake has been writing letters and cards for his classmates and friends to help everyone stay connected. He has sent over 250 hand-written letters to send good wishes and happy birthdays to his friends who are also stuck at home. Thank you Jake, we can't wait to see what you do next!

Discounted Solar Installation Available

The ever-popular Solarize Fairfax County program is back once again, providing county residents and businesses the chance to install solar arrays at a discount. From now until August 31, Solarize reduced rates will be available through a pre-qualified solar installer, Solar Energy World.

Over the past seven years, more than 370 solar contracts have been signed in Northern Virginia through the program, bringing solar energy to our community and advancing our commitment to clean energy. The Solarize program offers participants a streamlined process for exploring and pursuing solar power for their residences and places of business. The program is run by the Local Energy Alliance Program in partnership with the Northern Virginia Regional Commission and the Fairfax County Office of Environmental and Energy Coordination.

All county residents and business owners are eligible for a free, remote assessment to evaluate if solar is appropriate for their home or commercial building. Those who decide to pursue solar through the program receive a 10-15% discount off current consumer rates for solar arrays and systems. This year, participants are eligible for a 26% federal tax credit, a rate that will fall to 22% in 2021. Fairfax County also has a solar energy equipment tax exemption that applies to program participants.

Additionally, residential Solarize 2020 participants are eligible for a complimentary, virtual home energy assessment to help improve their home energy performance holistically. Solarize participants can also bundle electric vehicle charging stations with their solar system purchase to realize additional savings.

If you are curious about Solarize, attend one of three virtual information sessions.

Governor Northam Prohibits Congregating in Bars, Stresses Caution as Virginia Moves to Phase Three (June 30, 2020)

Governor Ralph Northam announced that bar seating will remain prohibited in restaurants as the Commonwealth moves into Phase Three...While key health indicators in Virginia are improving, the Governor made clear that he is taking a cautious approach and is prepared to implement tighter restrictions if needed.

To reduce the likelihood of patrons gathering in bar areas without observing social distancing guidelines, bar seating and congregating areas of restaurants will remain closed except for those passing through. Restaurants may use non-bar seating in the bar area, as long as a minimum of six feet between tables is provided.

"I am watching what is happening in other states—we are taking a cautious approach as we enter Phase Three and maintaining the current restrictions on bar areas," said Governor Northam. "In Virginia, our hospitalization rates have fallen, our percentage of positive tests continues to trend downward, and we are conducting more than 10,000 tests each day. We want these trends to continue, but if our public health metrics begin moving in the wrong direction, I will not hesitate to take action to protect the health and safety of our communities." ### Hot Cars Can Be Deadly

You may have heard the very sad news of an infant who died in a hot car in Springfield last weekend. We'd like to remind you to never, ever leave children unattended in parked cars. A child's body temperature can rise three to five times faster than an adults temperature. Here are some tips from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration:

- Check for baby – remember to: Park. Look. Lock.
- Keep your doors locked to prevent children from entering your vehicle.
- Never leave your child alone.
- If you see a child alone in a vehicle, check to see if they are okay and responsive. If so, attempt to locate the parents. If not, call 911 immediately and attempt to get into the car to assist the child.
