Response to Questions on the FY 2017 Budget

Request By: Supervisor Herrity

Question: Please provide a detailed breakdown of the fringe benefit cost by employee type similar to the analysis done by WABE for teachers <http://www.fcps.edu/fs/budget/wabe/2015.pdf> page 46. Include all cost of benefits provided by the school system. Also include an estimate cost for the vacation, sick leave and holiday benefits provided as a part of compensation package where applicable.

Response: The following response was prepared by Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS):

The employer benefit cost is comprised of two types of costs: salary sensitive and non-salary sensitive. Salary sensitive benefits, the largest portion of benefit costs, are based on a set percentage of the employee's salary and include social security and retirement contributions. Therefore, the fringe benefit cost will be fairly consistent across all employee types. Health costs are non-salary sensitive and are dependent on whether an employee has elected to take health care and which plan and coverage option is chosen. Therefore, the lower an employee's salary, the higher the health care cost will be as a percentage of salary. Other benefits costs, such as annual and sick leave, as well as paid holidays, are largely dependent on the employee's position classification/contract length.

The chart on the following page shows two position types with a hypothetical average annual salary of $65,000 and using FY 2016 benefit rates. The majority of FCPS' workforce are employed in 10 and 11 month positions, and do not accrue annual leave. Employees who work a full twelve-month schedule accrue annual leave beginning with thirteen days per year in the first year of service, reaching a maximum of twenty-six days per year after the thirteenth year of service.

The 12-month contracts include paid holidays and these days are incorporated in the hourly rate for this group of employees. A different methodology is used to reflect 10 and 11-month contracts. These contracts report on the number of days employees are required to report to work; however, the base on which the hourly rate is calculated is reduced, thereby increasing the hourly rate for employees on 10 and 11-month contracts. Less than 12-month employees may use up to five days of their sick leave as personal leave.

Total Salary and Benefits			$96,218			$96,608

1. VRS basic life rates pay for employee coverage and pre-fund retiree coverage.

2. Annual leave is accrued by 12 month employees based on length of service. Leave accrual begins at 13 days per year, and increases by 1 day per year until reaching the maximum accrual of 26 days per year.

3. The cost for non-salary sensitive benefits will vary according to employee election; the above examples assume election of family health and dental coverage. The percent of salary is provided for illustrative purposes and will vary according to employee election and annual salary.

Response to Questions on the FY 2017 Budget

Request By: Supervisor Herrity

Question: Please analyze the changes in FCPS medical plan benefits over the past 5 years. Please include employees portions of the total premium costs, employee deductibles and employee copay.

Response: The following response was prepared by Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS):

FCPS has implemented a number of plan changes over the past several years that have provided significant savings/cost avoidance. The majority of these savings were achieved through re-contracting or renegotiation of terms, however, significant cost avoidance was achieved with the dependent audit conducted in 2011. Additionally, significant plan changes were made in 2016 that mitigated double digit premium increases, but resulted in increased out of pocket costs to employees. A summary of FCPS Plan Year 2016 health benefits can be found at: http://www.fcps.edu/hr/benefits/publications/2016/comparison_by_vendor.pdf

Like other employers, FCPS has also incurred additional expense due to the rising cost of medical inflation and federal/state mandates (most notably, compliance with the Affordable Care Act). A five year summary of premiums and plan changes is attached.

Response to Questions on the FY 2017 Budget

Request By: Supervisor Herrity

Question: Please provide a list by employee/agency of former employees who retired from the county and are now working for the county or who worked for the County as employees or consultants for all or part of 2015, including their title, their current salary/compensation, and the number of years they have been back at the county.

Response: In calendar year 2015, a total of 277 positions were filled by 275 different employees who concurrently received an annuity from one of the County retirement systems. This represents a small fraction of the total County workforce, which included 12,354 merit positions in FY 2015 as well as many additional non-merit positions. Retirees are reemployed in both merit and non-merit positions. Of the 117 merit positions that were filled with reemployed annuitants in 2015, 101 were in public safety agencies. Among the 160 non-merit positions that were filled with retirees were positions such as Park Authority instructors and support assistants, child care specialists in the Department of Family Services, and rec leaders in the Department of Neighborhood and Community Services.

Former County employees can represent a valuable resource for filling vacancies based on the skills and experience gained in their former employment. For example, the majority of the reemployed annuitants working in public safety agencies were previously uniformed police, sheriff, or fire and rescue employees. These former uniformed employees have often been reemployed in positions that will make use of the skills that they gained during their career. This includes situations such as the former police officers who have been reemployed as deputy sheriffs or code compliance investigators, and the former firefighters who have been reemployed as fire inspectors and instructors. Retirees are also occasionally rehired to fill a temporary, critical need in an agency, or to accomplish succession planning activities.

Fairfax County has instituted policies and procedures relative to the reemployment of annuitants. If an employee is rehired into a position that is covered by the same retirement system from which they previously retired, then the employee may be required to waive their retirement annuity and make additional contributions to the retirement system during the period of reemployment. In other cases, such as when an employee is rehired into a non-merit position or a merit position that is covered by a different retirement system, the employee is able to continue to receive an annuity during the period of reemployment. However, the combination of salary and retirement annuity for these employees is capped at 115 percent of the maximum pay level for a Deputy County Executive. Finally, it is important to note that chapter 9 of the Personnel Regulations states that no retiree will be permitted to participate in a second County retirement system. Therefore, retirees that are rehired into a merit position covered by a different retirement system, such as a retired police officer being rehired as a deputy sheriff, are eligible for non-pension benefits such as health and dental insurance but will not earn a second pension.

The table below includes all recipients of a retirement annuity that concurrently earned compensation as a result of active employment with the County in calendar year 2015. This list does not include individuals whose annuity payments were suspended upon returning to work for the County, and therefore did not concurrently receive an annuity and salary.

Many of these reemployed annuitants have returned to work subsequent to their retirement. However, in some cases the employee held a secondary non-merit position prior to retirement, and continued to work in that position after retiring from the primary position. These situations are footnoted in the table, with the retirement date provided as the hire date since it best indicates the beginning of the period when the employee received both an annuity from the retirement systems and compensation for continued employment.

The annual salary noted in the table is based on the employee's hourly wage and the scheduled number of hours assigned to the position in the County's human capital management system. Therefore, the amount provided may not reflect actual annual salary, particularly for non-merit employees whose actual number of hours worked varies based on department needs. In addition, some of these employees were employed for only a portion of 2015, as a result of being hired or terminating employment during the year.
