This is the fourth consecutive month in which Sales Taxes were down, after the 0.7 percent decline in August, 0.5 percent in September, and 6.6 percent in October. Combined, Sales Tax receipts are down 2.1 percent for the first four months of FY 2014.

NATIONAL INDICATORS

Consumer Price Index

The U.S. Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) rose a modest 0.2 percent in September due primarily to increased energy costs. The index has increased 1.2 percent over the last 12 months. The Washington area’s inflation in September was in line with the national level at 1.2 percent over September 2012.

Gross Domestic Product

Real gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annual rate of 2.8 percent in the third quarter of 2013, according to the advance estimate by the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA). In the second quarter, real GDP increased 2.5 percent.

Inventory of Homes for Sale

In October, the number of active listings in the County was 2,607, an increase of 15.7 percent over the 2,254 listed in October 2012. Based on the October 2013 listings and the current sales rate, there is a 2.5 month supply of homes for sale in the County, up from the 2.3 month supply a year ago.

Commercial Office Market

According to the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority (FCEDA), the commercial office market remained sluggish in the first 6 months of 2013. This is attributed to federal budget issues and the uncertainty of the national economy, which continue to weigh down the local market. The direct office vacancy rate in the County remained the same at 14.4 percent as of mid-year 2013, the highest level since 1992. The overall vacancy rate, including sublet space vacancies, was 16.9 percent, up from 16.7 percent at year-end 2012.
