FOUND IN THE ARCHIVES, no. 2 – NOVEMBER 2014 Fairfax Circuit Court Historic Records Center

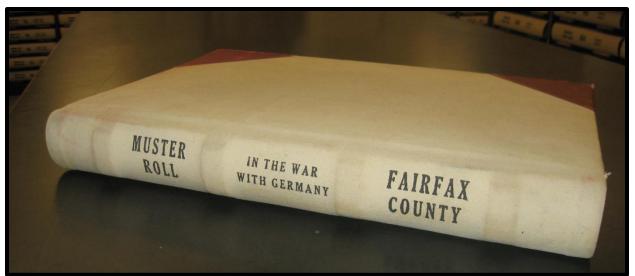

Hello! This is the second installment of "Found in the Archives," where the Fairfax Circuit Court Historic Records Center will highlight interesting and unique documents in our custody.

For the month of November, the Fairfax Circuit Court Historic Records Center will focus on Fairfax County citizens' participation in World War I, in honor of Veterans Day and Armistice Day, which coincide on November 11 each year.

The Fairfax Circuit Court Historic Records Center is custodian of the draft registration book for World War I, which details the name, residence, induction date, and service number of the inductee, among other details.

Note that the ledger is identified as the Muster Roll for "The War with Germany."

Why would the Circuit Court be keeper of this register?

By an Act of Assembly approved March 16, 1918, the chairman of the county draft board was required to "furnish to the clerk of that court...lists of the residents of such counties or cities, who, through the selective draft law have become members of the military forces of the United States." The Clerk, having received the list, "shall copy in a book or books provided for the purpose... [and] which book shall be properly indexed." Men who chose to volunteer would also be included. [1918 Virginia Acts of Assembly, Chapter 331]

On these pages, you can see three groups of names. The first set identifies those who were drafted through the Selective Service. It is important to note the "Remarks" section of each page, as it can provide more information about a man's service than just his service number. For example, on this page, you can see that John Daingerfield Addison was wounded in action, and James Walker Alexander deserted and was apprehended.

The second group of names includes those men who volunteered for service. The remarks state the branch of the military in which the men serve.

Finally, the third set of names lists those men who belong to the Students Army Training Corps (S. A. T. C.). This organization was operated by the United States War Department and trained male college students for military service, while ensuring they would remain enrolled in their college courses.
