- VA Systems of Care Logo & Slogan Contest

As part of Fairfax-Falls Church system of care efforts (renamed Healthy Minds Fairfax), youth placed in out-of-home care or who are at risk of placement in out-of-home care are eligible for intensive care coordination (ICC). The model for ICC adopted by the state Office for Children's Services is High Fidelity Wraparound (Wraparound). Wraparound is an evidenced-informed practice that is firmly grounded in system of care values such as individualized, family and youth driven services, strengths-based practice, reliance on natural supports and building of self-efficacy, team-based practice, outcomes-based service planning, and cultural and linguistic competence.

Both of the ICC providers in the community, the CSB's Wraparound Fairfax and United Methodist Family Services (UMFS), experienced staff departures in 2017. Both agencies have worked hard to hire and train qualified staff to ensure that children, youth, and families in our community continue to receive quality wraparound care.

In this month's issue of the newsletter we thought we'd take a little time to introduce (and re-introduce) you to the UMFS ICC facilitators so that you'll have a sense with whom you'll be working as you make referrals to ICC. (Information on the new Wraparound Fairfax facilitators will appear in a future newsletter.)

- ◆ Regarding the Parental Contribution Agreement—your signature is NOT required. Only the parent signs the form. The second signature line is for CSA staff when the form has been reviewed and approved.
- ◆ When submitting a packet, please, do not scan double-sided unless your original is two sided. This wastes a lot of paper and time. Thanks!

Lisa Batres, MSW

After completing her Bachelor’s degree at the University of Virginia, Lisa began her career in health insurance but found her passion working with adolescents dealing with mental illness. She worked in a local residential facility before moving onto Boston College to pursue her Masters in Social Work degree. In Boston she interned for Boston Public Schools as a middle school counselor and for Gandara Center serving Latino families with children who had a mental health diagnosis. Lisa’s focus during her education was gaining a greater understanding of how different cultures and beliefs can have an impact on mental health treatment and services. She applies her knowledge into her work in order to better understand and educate the families that she works with in the community. After relocating to Northern Virginia, Lisa worked as a home based counselor in the Loudoun County area and joined UMFS as an Intensive Care Coordinator in July 2017. Lisa is bilingual in English and Spanish and has fully embraced the wrap around model of care while supporting, advocating, and “cheering on” the families and youth she works with.
