CHAIRMAN’S REMARKS

The mission of the Fairfax History Commission is to advise the County Government, to promote and encourage public interest in all matters bearing on the history of Fairfax County, and to help identify, document, record and preserve our County's historic past here in Northern Virginia. In support of this mission, the History Commission is pleased to present its 2018 annual report that documents the wide array of projects undertaken by the Commission. These include presenting the annual History Conference in November, updating the County Inventory of Historic Sites, approving and celebrating historic markers, commemorating the 100th anniversary of Armistice Day, participating in Section 106 reviews, and collaborating with county staff on various matters.

The Commission would like to recognize the Debbie Robison’s service. After 10 years during which she served as Chairman, Treasurer, website manager, and Marker Committee Chairman, and did historical and architectural research, she stepped down at the end of the year.

The Commission is proud of its contributions and looks forward to continuing its efforts to work with and educate the public about the County’s diverse and rich historical interests. On behalf of the Fairfax County History Commission, thank you for your generous support in the work we do and your dedication to preserving and promoting the history of Fairfax County.

PUBLICATIONS

The History Commission has three projects remaining: reprinting Beginning at a White Oak; an update and reprint of Mount Air; and publishing Fairfax County in 1860: A Collective Biography.

HISTORICAL MARKERS

Fairfax County's Historical Marker Program began in January 1998 when the History Commission approved a design and agreed to fund a distinctive historical roadside marker for Fairfax County. While this marker is generally modeled after Virginia's roadside markers, by state code it must have a distinctive appearance. With colors derived from George Washington's Fairfax Militia uniform, these buff and blue roadside markers emblazoned with the Fairfax County seal stand ten feet from ground level.

In the twenty years the program has existed, the History Commission has approved the installation of 60 historical roadside markers (including six state markers). Many requests for historical markers are initiated by the public, which provides for approximately one half of the funding. Some markers, including those requested by developers, are funded entirely by the requesting party. All requests are reviewed by a committee for historical accuracy, historical significance, and editorial continuity before being submitted to the entire Commission for approval.

During the 2012 calendar year, the Commission agreed to limit the funding of historical markers to the equivalent cost of two markers due to budget restraints. The current cost of fabricating a marker is $2,220.

In 2018, the Marker Committee began assisting an applicant with research for a marker nomination on the James Lee Elementary School. In addition, the committee held review meetings for a marker on the McLean Volunteer Fire Department. Serving on the Marker Committee are Debbie Robison (Chair in 2018), Anne Barnes, Michael Irwin, Mary Lipsey (present Chair), Esther McCullough, Elise Ruff Murray, and Barbara Peters.

ADVOCACY

The Advocacy Committee met several times during the year to plan for the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Fairfax County History Commission and to discuss ways to advocate and make the public more aware of the commission and the county's rich history. The committee consists of Carole Herrick (chair), Glenn Fatzinger, Barbara Peters, Lynne Garvey-Hodge, and Anne Stuntz.

ETHNIC

The Ethnic Committee was formed in the fall of 1997 in response to the increasing demographic diversity of Fairfax County's population. The one hundred languages spoken within schools show the diversity of the population. It has been estimated that in less than fifty years the county's white population will drop below 50 percent. The committee set as a goal to explore the ways in which more ethnic segments might be encouraged to record their experiences and community history since their arrival in Northern Virginia.

In 2004, at the suggestion of then-Chairman Connolly, the Commission formed a subcommittee of the Ethnic Committee to create a program for recording and presenting oral history in Fairfax County. The Oral History subcommittee offers support to groups in Fairfax County seeking to record and collect oral histories. In cooperation with the staff of the Virginia Room, a project is being developed to encourage community groups to collect oral history in their districts. The Virginia Room will serve as a repository for the oral history offerings.

The members of this committee are Esther McCullough (chair), Anne Barnes, Sallie Lyons, Lynne Garvey Hodge, Anne Stuntz, Glenn Fatzinger and Phyllis Walker Ford.

INVENTORY OF HISTORIC SITES

The Fairfax County Inventory of Historic Sites is one of the History Commission's longest standing responsibilities. It serves as both a planning tool and an honorific. The Comprehensive Plan includes the Inventory sites in the Heritage Resources section of each Planning District.

The regular Comprehensive Plan Amendment to update the Inventory tables, references to Inventory sites in the text and other technical corrections came before the Planning Commission on June 14, 2018 and the Board of Supervisors on July 31, 2018. In addition to the usual additions and revisions, 17 sites were removed from the active Inventory because after a great deal of consideration they were found to no longer have either architectural or archaeological integrity. The records for these sites will be archived.

As of December 2018, the Inventory stood at 353 listings, including the addition below:

Addition to the Inventory of Historic Sites 2018

Site Name	Location/Vicinity	District	Date Added
John C. and Margaret K. White Gardens	3301 Hawthorne Lane, Falls Church	Mason	6/6/2018
Woodlawn Cultural Landscape National Register Historic District	Bounded by Old Mill Rd, Mt Vernon Memorial Hwy, Fort Belvoir, and Dogue Creek	Mount Vernon	9/20/2018

The current Inventory list along with its background, nomination forms and research guidelines are accessible to staff and the general public on the county website. An Inventory nomination form, instruction guide and example are also available. (<https://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/planning-zoning/historic/inventory-historic-sites>)

Elise Ruff Murray (chair), Sallie Lyons, Barbara Naef, Debbie Robison, Anne Stuntz and Jordan Tannenbaum serve on the Inventory Committee, in cooperation with Denice Dressel of DPZ and Elizabeth Crowell of the Park Authority.
