

Visiting Colvin Run Mill Historic Site

We are going to visit Colvin Run Mill Historic Site. This historic site is made up of several buildings. Each building represents a different part of a shared history. We will not go into every building, but we will be able to look at the outside and explore the site.

When we arrive at the site, we will walk from the parking lot to the General Store. To get there, we will pass under an archway. Once we pass under the archway, we will follow a brick path to the front porch of the General Store. We will see lots of plants on this walk, and maybe even some birds and squirrels.

The General Store is the first building we will see. If the door is locked, we will ring the doorbell. This will let the staff working in other parts of the site know we are here. We might have to wait a few minutes for someone to let us in.

Sometimes the General Store is very crowded. If this happens, we will sit on the bench by the door and wait for it to empty out. If I do not want to visit the General Store, we will keep walking to explore the site.

We can use the walking tour brochure to decide what we want to see. If we prepared a Mini-Miller Must Sees checklist, we can use the walking tour map to help us find the things I wanted to see.

General Store at Colvin Run Mill

Miller's House

From the General Store, we can walk to the other buildings. The buildings are the Education Center, the Miller's House, and the Mill. These buildings are all different.

I might see staff during my visit. They will be wearing nametags. If I get lost or can't find my family, I can tell one of them and they will help me.

Some areas of the site are noisy, while others are quiet. Some areas may have a lot of visitors, while other areas are empty. Quiet spaces for the site and for each building are marked on these maps. If I want a break, I will tell the adult I am with.

Map of quiet spaces at Colvin Run Mill

When I am ready to leave, I will tell the adult I am with. Together, we will walk back to the General Store. We will follow the brick path back to the parking lot.

Colvin Run Mill

I hope I can visit the site again soon to learn more about history!