

Take a Driving Tour of Holiday Lights

at Frying Pan Farm Park

Feel the magic of the season on a drive through thousands of twinkling lights, festive decorations and displays of live farm animals when Holiday Lights on the Farm returns to Frying Pan Farm Park.

Family members of all ages will ooh and ahh along the mile-long route that sparkles with an array of colorful light exhibits and 3D holiday scenes. Even the farm animals join in the fun. Stay warm in your car or register for a tractor-pulled wagon ride through the display.

Frying Pan's Jason Buchanan drove a wagon last year and recalled, "From the tractor, I could hear both children and adults delight at the light displays we passed, having good cheer as we traversed the magical experience." Buchanan has been looking forward to seeing the new ideas and displays the design team has in the works for 2021.

Last year's debut of Holiday Lights was such a hit the event quickly sold out. Nearly 2,000 cars made the holiday lights drive around Frying Pan Farm Park – in addition to people who opted to see the lights from a wagon.

"I was blessed to drive a wagon for an adult group with intellectual and physical disabilities," says Frying Pan employee Brooke Fries. "It made me so happy to give this group an amazing ride that they all enjoyed. I think this event is very inclusive for anyone and everyone."

One of Fairfax County Park Authority's branch managers, Mary Olien, notes, "There were so many happy faces! I'm so glad we were able to provide this event at a time when many favorite holiday activities could not be held due to COVID restrictions."

That's one thing that's so great about the Holiday Lights tour at Frying Pan Farm Park -- your family can stay safe in your own vehicle, talking, laughing and listening to your music, while enjoying a magical outdoor landscape.

This year's event will be even more spectacular thanks to generous sponsorships from the Friends of Frying Pan Farm Park, the Park Foundation and TD Bank!
