LETTER FROM THE CHIEF

Reflecting on the past year within the Fairfax County Police Department, I am inspired by the hard work and dedication of our officers. Our work has had a measurable positive impact on our community. Our community relationships and proactive programs set our department apart, and I am proud to say that our team has exceeded expectations, working tirelessly to produce results that maintain Fairfax County as the safest jurisdiction of its size in America.

Our commitment to public safety remains steadfast. From the many hours spent patrolling our neighborhoods to our swift responses to emergencies, from our meticulous investigations to our time fostering meaningful connections with residents, every action taken by our officers is a testament to our collective mission of safeguarding our community. Balancing the safety of almost 1.3 million residents across our county is no small task, but it's one that we embrace with determination and purpose every single day.

Here at FCPD, we are constantly refining and elevating our training programs, policies, and procedures to ensure that we stand as a beacon of excellence in law enforcement. Throughout 2023, initiatives such as ABLE, ICAT, Procedural Justice, Implicit Bias training, and Crisis Intervention Team training have been integral parts of our officers' daily routines, equipping them with the knowledge and skills needed to navigate the complexities of their roles effectively.

As you progress through our 2023 Annual Report, you'll see the significant strides we've made across our operations. While we aim to always strive for improvement, we are confident in our commitment to delivering the highest standards of safety and security. We will continue to explore innovative approaches to achieving our objectives, collaborating closely with our partners to realize our shared vision of a community where everyone feels safe and protected.

Thank you and stay safe,

MEET OUR LEADERSHIP TEAM

Our department divides Fairfax County into eight distinct police districts, each intricately segmented into smaller Police Service Areas (PSAs). These PSAs serve as focal points where residents can engage with their dedicated district commanders, fostering collaboration to address and mitigate any potential crime or concerns within their area. We urge members of our community to seize the opportunity presented by community meetings, not only to exchange thoughts and input with the FCPD, but also to understand how each individual can contribute to the broader framework of public safety.

As our department continues to expand and adapt, we are committed to refining our methods of outreach and relationship-building with the diverse communities under our care. For further details, please refer to the "Get Involved: Keep in Communication" section.

LEADING IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

At FCPD, our unwavering commitment is to deliver top-tier service to our community through a suite of pioneering programs.

Our Co-responder program is a testament to our dedication to mental health and community welfare. By partnering with behavioral health experts, we enhance crisis intervention efforts. Our pursuit of excellence propels us to constantly innovate and adapt, securing our position as leaders in contemporary law enforcement practices.

From our flagship WellFit program, prioritizing the overall well-being of our team, to groundbreaking initiatives such as our specialized Auto Crimes Enforcement (ACE) team and our utilization of NIBIN technology, pivotal in resolving firearm-related offenses, we persistently endeavor to bolster public safety and refine our response to emerging challenges.

Through these and numerous other inventive initiatives, we maintain our pledge to serve our community with distinction, cultivate trust and uphold safety in Fairfax County.

FCPD'S PREMIER PROGRAMS

PUBLIC SAFETY WELLNESS CENTER

In June 2023, FCPD and the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department (FCFRD) celebrated the grand opening of a brand-new Public Safety Wellness center with a focus on mental health for our Fairfax County First Responders.

The Fairfax County Public Safety Wellness Center aids officers and professional staff in enhancing mental and physical well-being, particularly crucial in a profession exposed to daily trauma, aiming to bolster support for first responders and community welfare.

UNLEASHING WELLFIT

FCPD and FCFRD also introduced Wellness Fitness (WellFit), an innovative program launched after the inauguration of the state-of-the-art Public Safety Wellness Center. WellFit is a comprehensive physical health initiative aimed at enhancing the well-being of all FCPD and FCFRD personnel. Led by experienced instructors and medical professionals, WellFit offers a wide array of fitness classes, personalized exercise plans, and nutritional guidance to optimize performance and reduce injuries. Additionally, the program includes holistic yoga sessions and Jiu-Jitsu training to promote mental resilience and total well-being. Complementing these physical health services, the Public Safety Wellness Center provides accessible mental health resources, ensuring comprehensive support for first responders throughout their careers. By prioritizing the health and wellness of their personnel, FCPD and FCFRD are fostering a culture that values individuals from entry to retirement, reaffirming their commitment to leadership in the law enforcement profession.

CIT/Co-Responder Build: Leading Changes to Aid in Community Behavioral Health Response

The Fairfax County Police Department takes immense pride in our Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) trained police officers and our premier Co-responder program. Working alongside the Community Service Board, FCPD is leading transformative changes in aiding our community's behavioral health response.

Recruiting and Retention Innovations: Building Officers to their Best

We are exceptionally proud of our pioneering advancements in Recruiting and Retention throughout 2023. In the face of significant nationwide shortages in police candidates, our innovative strategies have positioned us ahead of others in the field, drawing in a greater number of recruits. Our recruitment process is thorough, prioritizes diversity and inclusivity, and with over 20 languages spoken, has resulted in creating a workforce that better mirrors the communities we serve and provides many avenues for professional development.

Integral to our achievements, we uphold the practice that supporting the well-being of our officers supports their effectiveness in serving our great communities.

The FCPD's Auto Crimes Enforcement (ACE) unit showcases our dedication to pioneering crime prevention strategies, particularly in combating vehicle-related offenses to ensure community safety. Utilizing strategic enforcement, technology, intelligence-led operations, and community partnerships, the ACE unit has effectively deterred carjacking and auto theft incidents and recovered stolen autos in Fairfax County, despite rising carjacking rates nationwide.

ACE TEAM: REDEFINING CARJACKING PREVENTION

AUTO THEFT SYMPOSIUM

In May, FCPD hosted a symposium with law enforcement agencies from across the National Capital Region to discuss trends and best practices in investigating stolen vehicles. The symposium was hosted at our Public Safety Headquarters with over 90 law enforcement experts and more than 20 agencies from around the region in attendance. The symposium discussed new and emerging trends and investigative techniques being used by law enforcement. Our Auto Crimes Enforcement (ACE) unit and regional partners presented what their agencies are doing to proactively investigate stolen vehicles and associated crimes to keep our communities safe. Working together as a team, we are dedicated to keeping the streets safe throughout the National Capital Region.

FPCPD'S CUTTING-EDGE DRONE TECHNOLOGY

The Fairfax County Police Department (FPCPD) has used drones for small jobs since 2019, but in the past year, FPCPD's drone program has expanded to assist the department's helicopter program with a lot more detailed work.

Aerial footage provides many benefits to the FPCPD, whether it is to assist with developing public safety situations or to assist crime scene or crash reconstruction detectives with mapping and imaging. The unmanned aircraft system provides first responders with high-quality imagery, data, and geospatial solutions including Geographic Information Systems (GIS), remote sensing (RS), and Global Positioning Systems (GPS).

The expansion of our drone unit and the means to have rapid deployment, tactical support, and real-time information for officers during critical incidents is just one of the many ways we're keeping Fairfax County safe.

ADVANCED LPR TECHNOLOGY

In November, FCPD proudly marked the one-year anniversary of its implementation of a new License Plate Reader (LPR) technology. This key data-informed policing initiative has proved to be an invaluable asset in ensuring the safety and security of the Fairfax County community. Since the adoption of this LPR technology, FCPD has experienced numerous successes in its ongoing mission to prevent crime, enhance public safety, and serve the community. The FCPD is using cutting-edge LPR technology from Flock Safety and Axon to elevate the Department's ability to find missing people and solve crimes. Both fixed and mobile LPRs have been used in an impressive number of cases over the past year.

NIBIN: Advancing Crime Solving Through Cutting-Edge Technology

The National Integrated Ballistic Information Network (NIBIN) program at FCPD has revolutionized our approach to solving crimes. Through cutting-edge technology, NIBIN facilitates the linkage and analysis of ballistic evidence, offering vital insights into firearm-related offenses. By compiling a comprehensive database of ballistic images and shell casings, NIBIN empowers investigators to uncover connections between seemingly disparate cases, expediting the resolution of complex criminal investigations.

The FCPD's Office of Data Accountability and Strategic Initiatives (ODASI) drives data-informed decision-making, revolutionizing crime-solving. Collaborating with personnel at all levels, ODASI's analysts identify crime trends, optimizing resource deployment for more efficient and effective policing.

With a variety of highly skilled units, OSB safeguards Fairfax County's air, land, and water, maintaining safety across all domains.

In addition to its primary mission of safeguarding the community through specialized expertise, the Special Operations Division (SOD) of the Fairfax County Police Department also plays a crucial role in emergency response and disaster management. Equipped with advanced training and specialized equipment, SOD units are prepared to swiftly respond to natural disasters, terrorist threats, and other critical incidents. Whether providing support during search and rescue operations or coordinating response efforts in times of crisis, the SOD exemplifies the department's commitment to ensuring the well-being and resilience of Fairfax County residents.

TRAFFIC SAFETY DIVISION

The Fairfax County Police Department is steadfast in its mission to enhance road safety and reduce traffic fatalities. Central to this goal is the Traffic Safety Section, actively involved in prevention and education initiatives. The Crash Reconstruction Unit investigates serious collisions, providing vital insights for targeted interventions. Additionally, the DWI Enforcement Squad combats impaired driving, while the Motor Unit tackles traffic issues in congested areas. The Motor Carrier Section oversees commercial vehicle safety, and the Parking Enforcement Team ensures compliance, collectively improving road safety for our community.

2023 Road Shark Traffic Initiative

FCPD re-launched the “Road Shark” campaign, which aimed to address unsafe driving behaviors on county roadways. Throughout the campaign, officers issued nearly 25,000 citations and warnings, including over 1,300 for reckless driving, and made hundreds of Driving While Intoxicated arrests. The collaborative efforts of FCPD, Virginia State Police, and community support have contributed to safer roadways, emphasizing the importance of avoiding distracted driving, adhering to speed limits, and allowing ample travel time.

ROAD SHARK CITATIONS AND WARNINGS ISSUED

The Major Crimes Bureau of the Fairfax County Police Department is a specialized unit responsible for investigating serious offenses within the county. Its focus includes homicide, sexual assault, robbery, and other major criminal incidents. The bureau utilizes advanced investigative techniques, forensic analysis, and collaboration with various law enforcement agencies to solve cases efficiently. Through proactive measures and community engagement, it aims to enhance public safety and uphold justice in Fairfax County.

MAJOR CRIMES BUREAU

SUMMER CRIME PREVENTION INITIATIVE

Starting in June, FCPD aligned patrol officers and selective enforcement group efforts to address specific, data-informed crime trends across Fairfax County. The department's efforts were affected using a three-prong approach:

Proactive Patrol

Increased Community Engagement

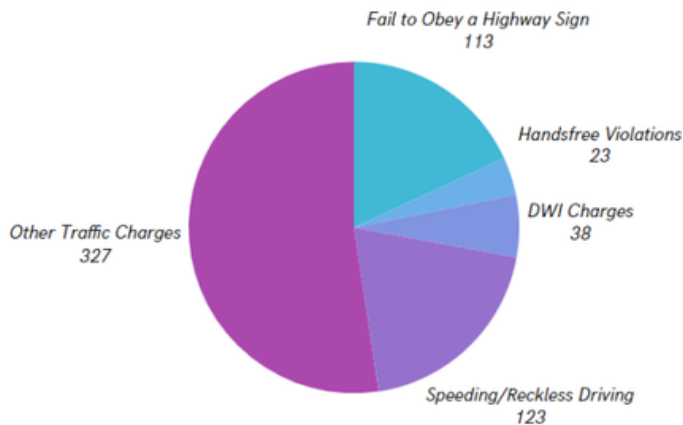

Connecting with Businesses

JUNE

The summer months, particularly June, are notoriously the highest for shoplifting crime in Fairfax County. However, with our efforts this year, we were able to achieve a significant decrease in this crime across the county.

Total Traffic Charges: 624

JULY

Throughout July, FCPD officers participating in the Summer Crime Prevention Initiative hit the streets and took over 30 impaired drivers off the roadways of Fairfax County. Their incredible efforts also brought over 600 traffic charges to offenders displaying unsafe driving behavior, putting our community at risk on our roads.

AUGUST

In August, our officers focused on vehicle-related crimes. Officers made over 50 felony arrests, to include 32 Possession of Schedule 1 or 2 narcotics charges, and over 50 misdemeanor arrests, to include DUI and concealed weapon charges. Just under 400 vehicle and pedestrian contacts were made and many citations and warnings were given for traffic violations.

ORGANIZED CRIME AND INTELLIGENCE BUREAU

The Organized Crime and Intelligence Bureau (OCIB) of the Fairfax County Police Department (FCPD) is instrumental in protecting our community through thorough and intelligence-guided investigations. Focused on combating organized criminal activities like drug trafficking, gang violence, and sophisticated financial crimes, this specialized bureau employs strategic methods for crime prevention and fosters collaboration among agencies.

In 2023, OCIB's adept approach and interagency partnerships proved highly effective in addressing intricate and multifaceted criminal operations.

THROUGH ENHANCED INVESTIGATIONS

THREAT ASSESSMENT AND MANAGEMENT (TAM) UNIT

SPECIALIZING IN RED FLAG CASES, THREAT ASSESSMENTS

The Threat Assessment and Management Unit (TAM) utilizes a proactive, collaborative, multi-disciplinary, and systematic approach to best meet the many challenges of vetting, analyzing, tracking, and preventing potential acts of targeted violence while providing intervention assistance for individuals at risk. This unit, launched by FCPD's Organized Crime and Intelligence Bureau, is responsible for investigating active violence incidents, bomb threats, and coordination of Emergency Substantial Risk Orders (ESRO).

TAM IN ACTION

In September, FCPD's TAM Unit, with Anne Arundel PD and Prince William County PD, acted swiftly to a tip from a community member about a man threatening harm to a Haymarket church and, together, were able to stop a potential active shooter.

The goal of the TAM unit is to interdict and deter subjects on the pathway to targeted violence and provide appropriate resources.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AND EQUITY BUREAU

The Community Engagement and Equity Bureau stands as a cornerstone of our dedication to fostering stronger and more inclusive communities. Through proactive outreach, attentive listening, and the cultivation of authentic relationships, this program is committed to connecting with residents. Central to the ethos of the Community Equity and Engagement initiative is the belief that every voice holds significance and merits attentive consideration.

AUXILIARY PROGRAM

This year, FCPD celebrated the 40th anniversary of our Auxiliary Police Office Program. Since its inception four decades ago, FCPD's Auxiliary Police Officer (APO) program has become an integral part of our department, strengthening the efforts of our career police officers and bolstering community safety in immeasurable ways. FCPD is reflecting on the incredible contributions and impact these dedicated volunteers have made over the years.

These devoted volunteers undergo rigorous training to assist and enhance the work of our full-time officers. Their commitment to public safety is evident in their active involvement in patrolling neighborhoods, supporting community events, and ensuring smooth traffic flow. The presence of our APOs provides an added layer of security and fosters a strong sense of trust and cooperation between law enforcement and the community.

Public Safety Cadet Program

Laying the Foundation for Success

The FCPD is proud to provide an abundance of opportunities to support and guide our youth on the pathway to success in Fairfax County. The Public Safety Cadet program provides leadership, ethics, and career preparation training to young women and men with an interest in a career in law enforcement. Participating in the cadet program provides invaluable experience, mentorship, and a strong foundation for a rewarding and prosperous future.

School Resource Officer Program

The FCPD's School Resource Officer Program is dedicated to nurturing positive connections between law enforcement and the county's students. Through collaboration with educational institutions, liaisons serve as supportive mentors and role models, fostering a sense of safety and confidence. By empowering students with essential skills and knowledge, officers aim to help them navigate challenges encountered during their academic journey.

ANIMAL SERVICES DIVISION

Throughout 2023, the FCPD's Animal Protection Police (APP) unit has prioritized the welfare of animals and promoted responsible ownership. Dedicated officers enforce animal control laws, respond to incidents, and offer educational resources to the community. Through partnerships with shelters and rescue organizations, they advocate for the well-being of abandoned or mistreated animals, emphasizing collaboration for the greater good.

The Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB) of the Fairfax County Police Department is pivotal in preserving accountability and upholding the utmost integrity within the department. In 2023, IAB has demonstrated unwavering dedication to impartially and comprehensively investigating complaints and allegations against personnel. Through transparent processes and fair reviews, IAB bolsters public trust in law enforcement, reaffirming our pledge to provide professional and ethical services to the community.
