As we continue to work during this pandemic and beyond, our most important responsibility is safeguarding the members of our Fairfax County community. In order to meet our mission, we need to ensure that emotional and physical wellness of the dedicated men and women of our Department. With that goal in mind, during these unprecedented times, the Department has made several adaptations to our business practices. We will continue to work diligently to ensure the safety of our community and the members of our Department.

A major component of our daily operations is communication and ensuring we implement the highest levels of transparency inside and outside the organization. Each week, this page will be updated with the latest COVID-19 related statistics and data sets as well as pertinent calls for service that illustrate our Department workload and community contacts.
