Dear Neighbors,

December has arrived, and with it the start of the winter solstice on December 21, marking the shortest day and longest night of the year. The winter season also means brisk temperatures and holiday cheer. As we celebrate this holiday season, I hope that you will also embrace the diversity in our Mount Vernon District. Paz, alegría y amor a todos; Hòa bình, niềm vui và tình yêu cho tất cả - Peace, joy and love to all!

This informal bike ride is open to all who want to join us and begins at Belle Haven Park on the George Washington Parkway (GWP). The 25 mile one-way or 50 mile round-trip ride follows the GWP trail to Mount Vernon Estate and continues on ultimately ending at the Workhouse Arts Center. Click here for more details and to sign-up. We look forward to seeing you on December 31st for our inaugural ride through the historic Mount Vernon district.

Board Establishes Police Civilian Review Panel

On December 6, the Board of Supervisors established a Police Civilian Review Panel (CRP) in Fairfax County. Previously, Supervisor Storck had met with many community members, police leaders and officers, and held a community meeting, along with Chief of Police, Ed Roessler, to discuss this and the many other recommendations of the Ad Hoc Police Commission.

Supervisor Storck strongly believes this CRP recommendation of the Commission, which included police representatives, is a historic step toward increasing transparency and trust. The panel will provide another avenue for residents to address concerns and enhance community confidence in the police by ensuring that policies and actions are reviewable by the Independent Police Auditor and the Civilian Review Panel.

The panel will have many responsibilities and roles. Click here for three ways the panel will work to enhance trust between our community and police.

Who Will Serve on the Panel

The Civilian Review Panel will consist of nine members appointed by the Board of Supervisors. Panel members will serve three-year terms with a two-term limit. All panel members will be Fairfax County residents and will have some expertise and experience relevant to the panel's responsibilities. Supervisor Storck will reach out to businesses, nonprofit groups and other local organizations to nominate potential candidates to serve on the panel.

The Civilian Review Panel was one key recommendation of the Ad Hoc Police Commission, which delivered 202 recommendations in November 2015. In just over a year, 178 of 202 recommendations have been approved. In addition to establishing the Civilian Review Panel and Office of Police Auditor, many other recommendations from the Ad Hoc Police Commission have been implemented by FCPD and the Board of Supervisors so far, including:

- Establishing Diversion First, which has resulted in over 300 diversions from potential criminal arrest to treatment since January 1, 2016.
- Re-engineering how our police are trained with a focus on de-escalation and the sanctity of life.
- Reorganizing the public affairs team and hiring a full-time civilian director.
- Establishing a policy to release the names of officers involved in critical incidents within 10 days and providing updates on these incidents at least every 30 days.
- Collecting and publishing key data on police interactions including uses of force and officer-involved shootings.

To track the progress of each recommendation, residents can view an interactive Progress Report online that lists the details and implementation statuses of all 202 recommendations made by the Ad Hoc Commission in their October 2015 Final Report.

Embark Richmond Highway

Thanks to everyone that joined Supervisor Storck on November 29 for the Embark Richmond Highway meeting at Whitman Middle School. Fairfax County presented existing transportation conditions and land use plans as the county works to bring bus rapid transit to the Richmond Highway corridor, along with more sidewalks, trails and bike lanes.

The community meeting was also an opportunity for residents to provide input on the proposed land use alternatives for the corridor as part of the overall project named Embark Richmond Highway. To learn more:

Sign Removal Program on Roads

Fairfax County Illegal Sign Removal Program

The county removes signs that are illegally put on or along selected roads. This includes political campaign signs, advertising signs and more.

75,000
Approximate # of signs collected from roads
since the program started in 2013

Signs collected

major roads.

Signs will be regularly picked up every week between Tuesday and Thursday by the Sheriff's Community Labor Force. Signs will not be cleaned up based on public complaints. The county is removing signs to assist the Virginia Department of Transportation-but VDOT is still responsible for maintaining the roads.

Takeaways

- Signs will not be removed from neighborhood streets-only selected major roads across the county. Create or join a VDOT Adopt-a-Highway group to remove signs from neighborhood streets and other roads.
- The clean-up program does not address signs on private property. For complaints about signs on private property only, use this online form. Learn more about the rules for signs on private property and other locations.
- Only signs will be removed from roads-not trash or litter.
- Contact VDOT about signs that cause a safety hazard on the roads at 1-800-FOR-ROAD, TTY 711, or use VDOT's online form.

After the county removes a sign, it will be stored for five calendar days at the I-66 Transfer Station where it may be reclaimed. Signs will be destroyed after five days. However, VDOT's Adopt-a-Highway groups may collect signs at any time on their designated roads, and they may destroy these signs immediately.

To date, illegal sign offenders have been charged over $53,000 and the County has collected more than $21,000 in fines for the illegally placed signs. For more information about the county's sign removal program, call 703-324-SIGN (7446), TTY 711. Hypothermia and Frostbite

According to the National Weather Service, frostbite is damage to body tissue caused by extreme cold. A wind chill of minus 20 degrees Fahrenheit will cause frostbite in just 30 minutes. Frostbite causes a loss of feeling and a white or pale appearance in extremities, such as fingers, toes, earlobes or the tip of the nose. If symptoms are detected, get medical help immediately. If you must wait for help, slowly rewarm affected areas. However, if the person is also showing signs of hypothermia, warm the body core before the extremities.

Hypothermia is a condition brought on when the body temperature drops below 95 degrees Fahrenheit. Warning signs include uncontrollable shivering, memory loss, disorientation, incoherence, slurred speech, drowsiness and apparent exhaustion. Take your temperature and if it is below 95 degrees, seek medical attention immediately.

Fairfax County's emergency homeless shelters have additional capacity during winter months to take in people overnight who are at risk of hypothermia. If you see an unsheltered person at night who may be at risk of hypothermia, call our non-emergency phone line at 703-691-2131; emergency personnel will determine which shelter option is best in the situation.

Help Make Sure No Pet Goes Hungry this Holiday Season

The Human Society of Fairfax has a Pet Pantry to temporarily assist needy families in the area who have fallen on hard times. Often, the families only need pet food to sustain their beloved companions until they are able to get back on their feet. Through the generosity of animal advocates in the community, we can ensure that no pet goes hungry during this holiday season and year-round. If you wish to make a donation. Please email Gina Lynch at outreach@hsfc.org or drop-off at the Humane Society Office, 4057 Chain Bridge Road, Fairfax, VA 22030. Thank you for your care and support - your generosity is greatly appreciated during this season of giving.
